Lancaster Farmland Trust Celebrates Preserving 104 Farms In 10 Years

STRASBURG (Lancaster Co.) — An evening of celebrating preserving 104 farms in 10 years included a quilt auction that raised $15,000 to help preserve more farmland.

Quilts and wall hangings were auctioned at the Historic Strasburg Inn, where 280 supporters of the organization gathered for the Trust's annual dinner, Nov. 19.

A specially commissioned quilt wall hanging by nationally-recognized artist Donna Albert combined many techniques to showcase The Garden Spot of the World: Lancaster County. Albert used applique, heat fusion, embroidery, color, and dimension in the design featuring an Amish quilt motif, appliques of the Ephrata Cloister, pretzels with mustard; corn, cow, livestock, and other items representative of the county.

Albert, a long-time supporter of the Trust, said the quilt represents preserving the treasure where her heart is — farmland.

The quilt was commissioned by the Pennsylvania Dutch Convention and Visitor's Bureau and sold

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) "His heart beats for Agriculture."

This statement was used to describe Pennsylvania Sen. Noah W. Wenger from the 36th district, who received the 1999 George C. Delp Award at the Lancaster Chamber of Commerce and Industry agriculture banquet Tuesday night.

Sen. Wenger is majority caucus chairman at present. In addition, in nearly 25 years in both the House and Senate, he has served as chairman of the agriculture committee and has sponsored many farm related bills. Wenger was instrumental in sponsoring and passing the right to farm law. He established farm truck tags, the state's nutrient management law, and the nationally recognized farmland preservation initiatives.

A native of Lancaster County, Wenger was elected president of the Lancaster County Farmers Association (now Farm Bureau) and served on the governor's advisory committee. In addition to his duties as senator, Wenger has received numerous awards and recognition, including the President's Award from the Pennsylvania Federation of Museums and Historical Organizations. He is active in local organizations such as the Ephrata Young Farmers, Reinhold's Lion's Club, and the Stevens Fire Company.

Sen. Wenger has served as a Sunday School teacher and superintendent. He resides in Stevens with his wife, is the father of three grown children and

Penn State Dairymen's Club Recognizes Charles Itle

STATE COLEGE (Centre Co.) — The Penn State Dairymen's Club honored longtime dairy industry leader Charles Itle with the annual Distinguished Service Award for his dedication to enriching and advancing the Pennsylvania dairy industry. The award was presented in front of 65 members and guests at the Club's annual meeting recently held in State College.

Itle grew up near Loretto, Cambria County, on a dairy and livestock farm. He attended St. Francis College for a year and DANVILLE (Montour Co.) - In spite of a local football game that had the attention of all the people in Danville, many farmers extension conservation, farm agency district personnel, and government officials, choose to attend the Montour County Tri-Ag Banquet last last week at the Montour-Delong Fair Building.

Highlight of the evening was the presentation of cooperator awards by both the Montour County Cooperative Extension and the Montour County Conservation District.

With more than 31 years of conservation efforts Harmony Hill Farm, Catawissa, owned by David and Rodney Bird, was named the outstanding cooperator farm in the Montour District for 1999. Board member Richard Shultz made the presentation.

Delmarva Broiler

ATLANTA, GA.
NOVEMBER 23, 1999

DELMARVA BROILER/FRYER MARKET. FEDERAL-STATE

Movement of ready-to-cook whole birds was seasonally sluggish as buyers interest shifted to other items more commonly used during the thankgiving holiday. Offerings were in good balance on the over 3 pound sizes; readily available on the lighter weights. Live supplies were moderate; weights mostly desirable to light. Processing schedules increased compared to the last several days and were moderately heavy. Less than trucklot asking prices were unchanged at 60 to 72 cents. Trade sentiment was about steady. Wings were well balanced. Breast items were readily available. ACTUAL SLAUGHTER WEEK ENDING 11/19/99 WAS 10,128,266 5.02

NY Phil Frozen Eggs

ATLANTA, GA.
NOVEMBER 19, 1999

EASTERN REGION FROZEN EGGS, NOVEMBER 19, 1999. FEDERAL-STATE

Mostly prices were unchanged when compared to a week earlier. Demand was only fair for usually adequate offerings. The undertone was no better than barely steady at prevailing price levels. Liquid and frozen eggs (ingredients included) processed under federal inspection in the Eastern region for the week ending November 13, 1999 were 6 % more than last week, and 5 % less than a year ago. Shell egg supplies were adequate to ample.

NE Chicken Parts 1&2

ATLANTA, GA.
NOVEMBER 23, 1999

NORTHEAST BROILER/FRYER PARTS - PART I FEDERAL-STATE

Trucklot buying interest was practically dead as the Thanksgiving holiday influenced the chicken market. Offerings were no less than adequate on all items except wings which remained short to adequate. Retail and distributive movement was very slow with no expectations of increased demand this week. The market tone was steady at best.

NATIONAL EGG MARKET - AT A GLANCE

Prices continued unchanged to lower throughout the country. The market tone ranged steady at times to mostly weak, with the larger sizes in the weakest position. Retail demand was moderate to mostly good as the Thanksgiving holiday continued to stimulate seasonal consumer interest. Supplies of all sizes were available to ample, however, the extra large and large sizes were usually in the longest position. Breaking stock supplies were fully adequate to instances burdensome from regular sources, and demand for additional product was very limited. Light type hens were fully adequate for current processors' needs.

NEW YORK EGGS, NOVEMBER 23, 1999. FEDERAL-STATE

Prices declined by 4 cents on the larger sizes and mediums were unchanged. Trade sentiment was mostly weak.
Demand was generally good as pre-holiday shopping improved. Supplies of all sizes were fully adequate to ample. The New York State shell egg inventory increased by 4 percent and the New Jersey inventory was 29 percent less than a week ago.

National Grain Market

St. Joseph, MO
Tue Nov 23, 1999
USDA-MO Dept Ag Market News
Daily National Grain Market Summary

Grain and soybean bids were mixed, today as weather and exports push bids in both directions. Wheat mixed. Corn 2 cents lower to 3 cents higher. Sorghum 4 cents higher. Soybeans 3 cents lower to 6 cents higher. Wheat bids were mixed with most places slightly higher. The only export sale reported, failed to support bids as Pakistan bought Australian white wheat. Traders had expected the US to get at least 4 million out of it, due to their GSM-102 credits. However, cheaper freight and new crop Aussie wheat won out. Much of the winter wheat growing areas received beneficial rainfall overnight and today. The return of warm, dry weather conditions in the upcoming forecasts was limiting declines. Corn bids showed some weakness due to increased farmer selling and new contract lows on the Board. Export sales have slowed down but indications South Korea is in the market for 1 million bushels of feed wheat, under- pinned bids. Light fund buying was also a positive factor. The Census crush report showed the second largest crush ever, however, a larger than expected build up of product stocks was also in the report. Offering support to bean bids was a Russian PL-480 tender announced for December 2.

USDA-OK Dept Ag Market News
Oklahoma National Stockyards - Weekly Cattle Summary

Compared to last week: Steer calves 2.00-6.00 higher; heifer calves 1.00 higher. Demand very good on plain to average quality. Feeder steers and heifers steady. Bulk supply calves. Calves in medium to fleshy conditions. Weigh-ups average. Scattered showers pushed through the state Monday evening leaving behind a trace to 1.5 inches of rain. General rains still needed for the state's wheat belt. Slaughter cows steady to 1.00 higher with full advance on lean cows. Slaughter bulls 1.00 higher. Demand very good for all classes as this the last major market in the state for the week. Total 415 cows and bulls sold with 40 percent going to packers. Receipts this week 5,800; last week 11,986; last year 6,339. Supply consisted of 48 percent yearlings and calves over 600 lbs; 44 percent calves and light yearlings under 600 lbs; 8 percent cows and bulls. Heifers comprised 43 percent of feeder and calf supply. Prices follow with weighted average weight and price in parenthesis.

The OLD FARMER'S ALMANAC THIS WEEK WITH

NOV. 29-DEC. 5, 1999

FIRST DAY OF CHANUKAH, DEC. 4.

ALCOTT'S "LITTLE" WOMEN

On November 29, 1832, Amos Bronson Alcott, transcendentalist and founder of a utopian community in Fruitlands, Massachusetts, wrote a letter to convey his pride in "the birth of a second daughter on my own birth-day." Born in "the most disagreeable month in the whole year," as Louisa's fictional character, Margaret, called it in Little Women, Louisa and her father were both avid journal keepers. Louisa's books and articles later supported the family through their financial troubles. Louisa died on March 4, 1888, two days after her father's death.

I had a pleasant time with my mind, for it was happy. – Louisa May Alcott, diary entry 1843

TIP OF THE WEEK

☞ For a relaxing and fragrant bath, add bee balm leaves to the water.

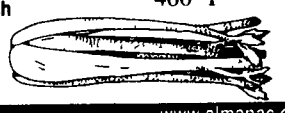
TURKEY POTPIE

1/2 pound potatoes, peeled and cubed
1 small onion, chopped
4 stalks celery, chopped
2 teaspoons butter
4 cups chopped cooked turkey
2 carrots, chopped
1/4 cup flour
1-1/2 cups chicken broth or turkey broth
1/4 cup chopped parsley
1 package (9 ounces) plain biscuit dough

Boil potatoes and drain. Sauté onion and celery in butter, add turkey and carrots, then stir in flour and broth. Cook, stirring, until thickened, then add potatoes and parsley, and spoon into a deep-dish pie pan or soufflé dish. Top with biscuits (halved from normal size) and bake for 15 minutes at 400° F.



Makes 6 servings.

The OLD FARMER'S WEATHER PROVERBS

When the grouse drum at night, there will be a deep fall of snow.

On St. Andrew's night (Nov. 30), place a glass of water on a table. In the morning, if the water has run over it will be a good year to come; if not, a poor year for crops.

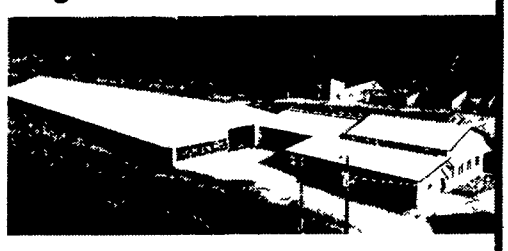
The Building you want. The Lease you need.



Telmark has been leasing equipment for over 30 years. Did you know that we've been leasing new buildings for that long too? Consider:

- Tax deductibility and accelerated write-offs: Lease payments are income tax deductible over the term of the lease compared to 20-year depreciation of farm buildings and 39-year depreciation of commercial buildings. Could reduce tax liability this year.
- Low upfront costs: As little as one monthly lease payment.
- Flexible lease term: Building lease terms from five to fifteen years.
- Customized payment schedules: Lease payment schedules are specially designed to match your cash flow.

First: Talk with a qualified builder to determine your needs and building cost.
Then: Call your Telmark representative for your financing.

OPINION

As The Earthworm Turns

The tests currently used to detect old DDT and other organic pollutants in the soil may overestimate the risk to living organisms, according to Cornell University researchers who say the real issue for government regulators at toxic cleanup sites should be "biological availability" of aging toxins.

A report to be published in the Dec. 15 issue of the American Chemical Society journal "Environmental Science & Technology" finds new tests for this so-called "bioavailability" — the amounts of toxins available to harm organisms — to be a more realistic reflection of the potential harm of organic pollutants to humans, animals, plants and ecosystems.

And the new tests of bioavailability meet "standards" set by a living inhabitant of the soil, the common earthworm.

"Recent research has cast doubt on the validity of current analytical methods for assessing the risk from organic pollutants in soils," said Martin Alexander, Cornell's Liberty Hyde Bailey Professor of Soil Science and co-author, along with research associates at Cornell, of the journal report. "Current methods determine the total concentration of compounds, not the amounts that are actually available to do harm. If we are not measuring the bioavailability, we are overestimating — sometimes appreciably — the risk to biological organisms."

The Cornell study focused on soils that were contaminated over the years with DDT and its derivatives DDE and DDD, using two different procedures to determine bioavailability: solid-phase extraction with C18 membrane disks and liquid-phase extraction with aqueous solutions containing tetrahydrofuran.

To gauge the effects of chemical aging on bioavailability, the researchers used soil that was treated with DDT 50 years ago in U.S. Department of Agriculture test plots in Maryland, soil contaminated with DDT about 30 years ago at a U.S. Navy weapons-testing site in Virginia, and uncontaminated New York state soils, which the researchers deliberately treated with DDT, DDE and DDD.

Age can be an important factor in bioavailability, Alexander explains, because the compounds might be sequestered in the soil and are less likely to be absorbed by living organisms. The usual way of determining chemical contamination, vigorous extraction methods, detected more DDT, DDE and DDD in the soil samples — as was expected — compared to the bioavailability.

Using bioavailability measurements, Alexander said, "should permit better assessment of risk and allow more meaningful decision-making at sites that require remediation."

To Be Safe With Round Bales

Many farmers are buying hay this winter and have found round bales and big square bales to be a good buy, according to Jeff Stoltzfus, Eastern Lancaster County School District Adult Farmer Advisor. However these big bales bring some extra hazards

Make sure bales are stored in a secure manner You do not want a run away heifer or some playful children start a bale rolling down a hill. Small children can easily be crushed if a bale moves. This can be a particular hazard if the bales are stacked. Large square bales can also be dangerous.

A Chester County farmer was killed last spring when a stack of large square bales fell over and crushed him. The hay had been baled a little loose and the bottom bale could not support the weight of the upper two bales.

To Move Large Bales Safely

If you are handling large bales with a front end loader, be careful not to raise the bales too high. Several people have been killed when bales have rolled back on to the tractor driver, reports Jeff Stoltzfus, Eastern Lancaster County School District Adult Farmer Advisor.

Make sure the tractor is big enough to handle the bale safely Having a bale weighing over 1,000 pounds on the front of a tractor will change the center of gravity on a tractor and make it easier to tip the tractor over.

Make sure children are not playing in the area when you are moving bales Round bales block much of your forward vision making it easy to run over animals or children who move into the area when you are not looking

Consider the New York farmer who was moving a large round bale down a road The bale blocked his view, so he decided to drive along the side of the road, just to be safe. However, the bale kept the farmer from seeing the police car that had stopped to ticket a speeder To everyone's surprise, the farmer drove up over the police car Avoid surprises Be safe

To Clean Tools

Cleaning up tools and equipment is an important practice that should not be ignored, according to Robert Anderson, Lancaster County Extension Agronomy Agent. Proper cleanup of tools now will leave them in top shape and ready when you want to use them again

Clean, oil and repair all hand tools Sharpen all blades and remove rust Equipment should be cleaned of all plant material and dirt. Replace worn spark plugs and oil all necessary parts. Store all tools in their proper place indoors instead of outside where they will rust over the winter

FARM FORUM

Editor,

I am very discouraged, as a dairy farmer to feel the price crunch again. In your market report last week, milk price futures dropped to a new all-time low.

I get the feeling we are going to see new all-time lows at the farm and never see an increase.

The market report on (TV) said "you better be careful what you wish for."

Wish, what is a wish?

We have been dictated to so long that, wish is all we can do.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

THE PERENNIAL CHOICE

November 28, 1999

Background Scripture:
Joshua 24
Devotional Reading:
Psalms 24:14-24

In 1887 at El-Amarna, an Egyptian peasant woman stumbled across a store of 300 clay tablets that she sold for the equivalent of a dollar. Eventually, another 240 tablets were discovered there in what had been the capital city of Pharaoh Akhenaton. The tablets were a spectacular archaeological find: A large collection of letters between Pharaohs Amenoiphis II and Akhenaton and the governors they appointed to rule in Palestine.

A repeated pattern in these 540 letters is the obsequious swearing of allegiance by the governors to the pharaohs. In letter 236 by Governor Abdu-Heba we find this flowery obeisance: "Your servant renews his oath of loyalty to Pharaoh by bowing seven times seven times..." This oath established a kind of covenant between the Pharaoh and his officials.

The term covenant seems to be growing in popularity with ing the churches today. We speak of the rite of baptism as a covenant, as well as marriage and any sort of binding agreement. In Old Testament times the covenant signified a "coming together" and "bonding." The English word covenant is descended from the Old French word covenant, a literal "coming together." It is related to the French noun covenir meaning "to agree."

Beginning With Abraham

In the last few months we have traced this concept from the first expression of it from God to Abraham, from Abraham through Isaac, Jacob, and Joseph to Moses, Joshua and the twelve tribes of Israel. This term speaks to us of God's promises regarding the future of Israel and the Promised Land, as well as of Israel's promises to obey God's commandments.

Essentially, the covenant is both a relationship and an agreement. The Old Covenant made through Moses established God as the Lord of Israel and the Israelites as his children selected for a particular mission. In the New Testament we encounter a New Covenant (Testament) sealed by the sacrifice of Jesus's death. It is at the Last Supper that Jesus first utters this term: "This cup is the new covenant in my blood" (Mk. 14:24.) The cup signified his blood that sealed the new agreement between God and his people, the new relationship existing between them.

We tend to think of covenants as once-and-done. But the essence of the Christian's life is the continual renewal of our covenant with God. The scene in Joshua 24 is but one of the many times when Israel was challenged to renew the covenant with the Lord. Seldom has it been expressed so clearly and concisely: "Now therefore fear the Lord, and serve him in sincerity and faithfulness; put away the gods which your fathers served beyond the River, and in Egypt, and serve the Lord" (Joshua 24:14).

Whom You Will Serve

Joshua knows that people are often swept along a wave of enthusiasm and agree to promises which they do not fulfill. So he says, "And if you be unwilling to serve the Lord, choose this day whom you will serve..." (4:15). I once had a parishoner who refused each year to make a financial commitment to the church. He said the Old Testament teaches that it is better not to make a commitment than to make one you will not keep. I don't think that is what Joshua was offering his hearers. He was calling for an honest and open choice. It is up to you, he was saying, "but as for me and my house, we will serve the Lord."

The people, however, react with great enthusiasm, assuring him: "Far be it from us that we should forsake the Lord, to serve other gods; for it is the Lord who brought us and our fathers up from the land of Egypt, out of the house of bondage..." (24:16, 17) Joshua responds with the words that could have been misconstrued: "You cannot serve the Lord; for he is a holy God; he is a jealous God; he will not forgive your transgressions or your sins..." (24:19) Joshua is saying that he doubts the people of Israel can keep the covenant and, if they do not keep it, they will be the worse for it.

Fickle as the people of Israel had proven themselves, on this occasion they were of one mind. The sternness of Joshua's challenge seemed to make them all that more determined. "You are witnesses against yourselves that you have chosen the Lord, to serve him," said Joshua. The people replied: "We are witnesses!"

And so are we all.

Induced Lactation as a Tool to Increase Dairy Farm Profitability

By Ronald S. Kensinger
Department of Dairy & Animal Science
Pennsylvania State University

Profitability on a dairy farm is defined by the simple equation

Profit = (price/cwt of milk – cost/cwt of milk) X volume

Reducing the cost of milk production offers the most promising opportunity for dairy producers to increase profitability, and has been the subject of recent research within Penn State's Department of Dairy and Animal Science in the College of Agricultural Sciences. Most dairy producers realize there are a limited number of strategies to increase the price they are paid for milk. The volume of milk produced per farm has steadily increased in recent decades, and will continue to increase as limited by land mass, nutrient management regulations, and the availability of cows, facilities and labor. Therefore, controlling the cost of producing milk plays a significant economic role at the farm.

One factor that increases cost of producing milk is the significant involuntary cull rate on the dairy farm. This often occurs when otherwise healthy cows do not conceive in a timely way, and need to be culled from the herd. Options include replacing them with heifers from the farm, or purchasing a pregnant heifer or cow that is near calving. This reduces profits on the farm and it is our goal to reduce this cost.

Dairy producers are well aware that the primary reason to rebreed a cow is to gain the resulting calf, and to prepare the cow for another lactation. It is the lactation that has the greatest impact on farm profitability, as most income results from sale of milk. The goal of our research is to treat those open cows in a manner that creates a brief "artificial pregnancy", in order to stimulate udder development and induce them to have another lactation.

The basic methods in this procedure were introduced 25 years ago by research at Ohio State University but were not refined to the point of 100% success rate. Furthermore, no company or organization attempted to take the method through the process of approval required by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA). FDA approval is essential if a technology like this is to be widely used in the industry.

Research at Penn State modified earlier methods in terms of estrogen and progesterone (the natural hormones of pregnancy) administration. In addition, we utilized bST after the cows began to produce milk. Results were very encouraging as the induced cows produced an average of 60 pounds of milk/day for 305 days. Furthermore, most of these cows which were problem breeders at the start of the trial, conceived during the induced lactation. Thus, they have returned to the regular herd, and continue to be profitable animals.

We then compared the profitability of retaining these cows in the herd to the alternative of raising replacement heifers. Results showed that the average dairy farm could increase profit by about $520 every time a cow is induced to lactate rather than replace her with a heifer. Depending upon the size of the farm, the impact could be very significant.

In addition, we hope to extend our studies to determine if these technologies can be applied to young heifers to get them producing milk earlier in their lives and improve lifetime milk production. Since this procedure is not approved by FDA, we must

Stocks Report Released

KEN BAILEY
Penn State University

- American cheese stocks down
- Butter stocks down
- CME cheese prices above support

November 19, 1999

USDA issued the Cold Storage report today. September ending stocks of American cheese were revised up from 471.447 million pounds issued October 20 to 474 846 million pounds today. October stocks of American cheese are 456 976 million pounds, down 17 87 million pounds from the month before and up 15 8 percent from a year ago September butter stocks were revised down from 74 055 million pounds issued October 20 to 71 473 million pounds today October ending butter stocks are at 59 864 million pounds, down 11 609 million ponds from the month before and up 92 1 percent from a year ago

The cold storage report shows two things First, October levels of butter and cheese are still well above year ago levels. Second, these stock levels are below September levels My conclusion is that this report indicates that third quarter consumption of dairy products (July - September) must have been very strong, and that current consumption must also be strong.

Stocks would be growing if consumption were weak.

The market will likely interpret this report as neutral to bullish on prices In other words, it is clear that stocks, while high from historical levels, are heading down and that demand is strong That should help to stabilize prices I expect overall demand for cheese the fourth quarter to be strong. The stock market reacted favorably when the Federal Reserve Board increased the federal funds rate a quarter point this week Recent reports on retail sales look favorable Thus despite higher interest rates and higher gas prices, retail sales this holiday season could be very good

That could also mean higher sales for dairy products as optimistic shoppers eat out and entertain more at home

Thus higher cheese consumption may prevent cheese prices from falling back to support price levels. Cheese prices at the Chicago Mercantile Exchange this week were above support levels. Prices for 40-pound blocks were $1.1225 per pound on Monday, November 15 and fell to $1.12 per pound by Friday, November 19. Barrel cheese remained steady at $1.0975 per pound all week.

Cheese prices could remain at weak levels for the next two weeks as surplus milk from the Thanksgiving Holiday flows into manufacturing facilities. Prices may strengthen slightly in December from current levels if demand remains strong and stocks continue to decline. If, however, stock levels stabilize next month due to strong cheese production levels, cheese prices could remain just above support levels for the remainder of the year has five grandchildren

The George C Delp Award is presented annually to a resident of Lancaster County who has made a significant personal contribution to the agricultural community, exemplifying dedication and commitment to preserve and enhance agriculture in Lancaster County

Three Century Farms were also recognized They are the farms of D Martin and Leila A Zimmerman, East Earl, Loren E and Kyra K Fry, Lancaster, and Dr S Kendrick and Judith C Eshleman, III, Paradise

The 100-acre Zimmerman family farm is the 130th recipient of the Century Farm award in Lancaster County It has been in the family for 109 years and five generations have lived on the 90-cow dairy farm The farmhouse was built in early 1800

The 131st Lancaster County Century Farm has been in the Fry family for 258 years Great, great, great, great, great grandfather Joseph Habecker purchased it in 1741 for 130 pounds

The Eshleman family farm that represents the 132nd Lancaster County Century Farm has been in the family for 210 years Ancestors Jacob and Mary Brackbille Eshleman purchased 29 farms in Eastern Lancaster County during their lifetime and also ran a grist mill on the home farm. The present family members are the sixth generation to live on the farm

The Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture sponsors the Century Farm Awards program Since 1976, the program has recognized farms operated by the same family for a minimum of 100 years Farm families play an important and vital role in preserving the heritage and prosperity of agriculture in Pennsylvania, and the multi-generational family farms in Lancaster County carry on the rural traditions so important to the economy

Brent Landis, the Chamber's ag services coordinator, reported on the activities of the ag committee Max Armstrong, WGN Radio, Chicago, was the keynote speaker John Blanchfield, American Bankers Association, was the master of ceremonies

Question: Several months ago we moved into a new parlor. Our somatic cell rose shortly after and now we cannot make premium. Any comments would be appreciated.

I paid a visit to this farm soon after they called me. I do not pretend to be a milk systems expert and totally anticipated that the new system had a thorough inspection of operation. The purpose of my visit was to try to match the physical observations of factors that could influence SCC with the statistical information from PA DHIA. I felt that if a connection could be made then we would stand a chance of resolving the problem.

First, let us discuss a few of the statistics involved with the rise in SCC. The following is a chart that was prepared using their test day information.

Month	Bulk Tank SCC	Bulk Tank LSCC	Average LSCC
Feb.	199,000	3.99	2.18
Mar.	180,000	3.84	2.48
April	145,000	3.48	2.16
July	316,000	4.84	2.89

Keep in mind that the bulk tank LSCC is a linear score of the total tank SCC and is the result of milk pounds times somatic cell count. The average LSCC is the linear score of each cow with no influence of milk pounds. This number represents the infection level of the herd and not the total cells in the tank. The total cells in the bulk tank increases by 118% but the average LSCC of each cow increased by 73%. This certainly provides us with a clue that much of the developing problems is with the highest milk producers and more importantly, the early lactation cows. These will be the hardest cows to lower SCC levels in due to greater milk flow and higher levels of stress.

I could now focus on factors that would influence the early stages of lactation. Normally, I look for changes in dry cow procedures, treatments, and housing. I never got that far on this particular visit because it was milking time when I got to the farm. I usually avoid farm visits during this time due to the dairyman's schedule, but SCC increases can be affected sometimes by little things done in the parlor. It appeared as though something strange was going on as I stood and observed. I commented to the milker that things were very quiet. He said he liked things that way and continued with the milking chores. My wife happened to be along on this visit for the first time since my working for PA DHIA. She asked me why each cow kicked at the milker unit as it was coming off. I looked and could see that the teat ends were damaged. White rings had formed around the sphincter muscle and the teat ends were inverted outward in a star-like appearance. These were classic signs of overmilking I then watched as units were being attached on the other side of the parlor. The cows had good letdown but the milk hoses hung full of milk from claw to floor. Right then, I knew what was wrong – the vacuum break air inlets were plugged. This explained the quiet nature of the parlor. We proceeded down the line and found that 20 to 24 units had this problem.

We left with recommendations that the wash system be re-evaluated to insure cleaning of the air holes in the barrel of the milking claw. I also stated that the outside sanitation of the claw was important and routine checks should be in place to ensure correct system operation. We laughed as we apologized for making the parlor noisier with the psst-psst sound of properly working milking claws It was also suggested that my wife would make a good partner for my farm visits. Needless to say, she has declined.

Matching up statistical data from our cows with physical evidence at the farm is invaluable for problem solving. Although clogged air inlets may not be the only problem here, nothing else could work without fixing that first.

Del Val Sets Spring Sale

DOYLESTOWN (Bucks Co.) — This spring, Delaware Valley College's Dairy Society has scheduled a consignment sale entitled "The Green and Gold Spring Spectacular."

The first annual consignment sale is scheduled Saturday, April 1, at noon in the Equestrian Center on the campus.

The sale will feature approximately 50 head of topnotch Holsteins, 20 Jerseys, and promising embryos. Auctioneer will be college alumnus David Rama of The Cattle Exchange.

The society is accepting consignments of all ages, but preferably show age animals. Classifiable animals should be at least 80 points. Two-year-old Jerseys should be milking at least 13,000 pounds of milk. For mature Jerseys, the society is looking for animals that milk at least 15,000 pounds.

For the Holsteins, 2-year-olds should be producing 18,000 pounds of milk. Mature cows should be producing 20,000 pounds of milk. For heifers and calves, the animal should be out of at least an 80-point dam. All animals should be breed average or higher in milk components.

General health papers and pedigrees are required.

For more information or to consign animals, contact Amanda Shahan at (215) 489-4416, Bryan Champluvier at (215) 489-4497, or Jarrod Burleigh at (215) 489-4470.

HERSHEY (Dauphin Co) — State Secretary of Agriculture Samuel Hayes will be the featured speaker at the 1999 National Young Farmers Education Institute Banquet on Wednesday, Dec. 8, 1999, 5 p.m. at the Hershey Lodge and Convention Center.

The banquet will serve as the kick-off for the convention to be held Dec. 8-11, 1999. In addition to Sec. Hayes, the program will include a parade of flags, Ag Spokesperson speech, an ice cream social, and dance band "Branded." At least 21 states will be represented by over 500 people who will be attending the event.

An Agriculture Spokespersons contest will also be held on Wednesday with contestants from different states competing against each other for the title In the afternoon the Agriculture Spokesperson will stop at a local grocery store and school to discuss the importance of agriculture in our country.

The week will be filled with interesting tours, educational seminars and interesting workshops. The tours will include places such as R.W. Sauders, Kreider Farms, Gettysburg Battlefield, Harley Davidson, New Holland Equipment, Anderson Pretzel, Hammercreek Exotics, Mason Dixon Farms, and many more places. Shopping excursions at Rockvale Square, Holiday Homes tours, and Craft workshops also will be happening throughout the week and geared for women. On Thursday everyone will be visiting the Sight and Sound Millennium Theatre to see the Christmas show followed by a dinner at a local smorgasbord. Each of the remaining evenings will feature banquets at Hershey Lodge and Convention Center with entertainment following dinner.

On Saturday, December 11, a trade show will be held from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

For more information on attending this event, please contact Ed Zug at 717-548-3178.

STRATEGIES FOR KEEPING YOUR MOST VALUABLE EMPLOYEES

Direct farm marketers know the value of a good employee. After all, retailing is about personal relationships.

While it is true that higher salaries offered by other organizations may be a threat to your employee retention efforts, research shows that traditional pay programs are ineffective for motivating high-performing, committed employees.

Companies will lose their most valuable employees if they fail to offer them the intangible intrinsic rewards that money cannot buy. In fact, studies have shown that what tends to stimulate and encourage top performance, growth and loyalty is praise and recognition.

Help Employees Grow and Learn

Providing employees with opportunities to learn pays dividends for both the organization and the employees. Cooperative extension programs, community colleges, and industry seminars offer many chances to learn.

The employer gains better-skilled workers who are better skilled, more versatile in their work assignments, and motivated because they are challenged and encouraged to grow Employees get the opportunity to learn new skills, gain new ways of viewing things, and network with co-workers

Allow Flexibility In Work Schedules

A key part of any retention strategy should include adopting flexible work arrangements — it is the benefit employees want most. This can be difficult, but a recent survey by Robert Half International, an employee placement company, found that 76 percent of workers polled would leave the career fast-track in exchange for a more flexible schedule.

And almost 66 percent say they would take a pay cut in exchange for more flexibility.

Integrate Work/Life Issues Such As Childcare

Exploring the childcare needs of your employees will help you determine what types of assistance would be most meaningful and widely used. Sit down and talk with your employees. Ask questions and listen. You might be surprised how much useful information you will uncover.

Retaining employees today is harder than ever. Skilled workers are—and will continue to be—the most important asset of any organization. Organizations must realize this and must create a culture that fosters a sense of trust, loyalty, and commitment.

for $700. Both traditional and contemporary style quilts were auctioned. The two highest bids of $950 each went to quilts titled Tree of Life and Country Love.

The Trust had set a goal to preserve 100 farms by its 10th anniversary. Tom Stouffer, executive director, said that the 104 farms preserved is the highest number preserved of any county in the U.S.

Stouffer credits the generosity of farmers and supporters because no government money is used, and full value for easements were not given for the 6,882 acres preserved.

A specially commissioned quilt wall hanging by nationally-recognized artist Donna Albert combines many techniques to showcase The Garden Spot of the World: Lancaster County. Albert used applique, heat fusion, embroidery, color, and dimension in the design that includes an Amish quilt motif, appliques of the Ephrata Cloister, pretzels with mustard; corn, cow, livestock, and other items representative of the county.

The most recent farms preserved through Lancaster Farmland Trust include those owned by these families, from left, Dr. David and Florence Harnish, Townsend Moore and Carolyn Price with daughter Gian Yu, Dr. George and Kathleen Evans, and Vera and Clayton Nissley.

"More than $10 million in easements have been donated by farmers. This speaks volumes for Lancaster County farmers," Stouffer said.

Stouffer encouraged the audience to support House Bill 300, and to work for laws that would allow annual tax breaks to farmers, not just a one-time allotment.

The Trust has 2,000 members. Last year the Trust spent $600,000 to preserve the easement value of $2¼ million of farm land.

The most recent farms preserved through Lancaster Farmland Trust include those owned by these families: Eli and Sadie Glick, 49-acre dairy farm in Bart Township; Dr. David and Florence Harnish, 44-acres in Ephrata; Townsend Moore and Carolyn Price, 45 acres in Colerain Township; Dr. George and Kathleen Evans, 95 acres in Fulton Township; and Vera and Clayton Nissley, 79 acres in Manheim; Donald Nolt family, 74 acres in East Petersburg; Omar and Rebecca Fisher, 84-acres in Leola; James and Barbara Long, 79-acres in Fulton Township; Donald Kirk, 144-acres in Colerain Township; Amos and Verna Mae Beiler, 38 acres in East Lampeter; Jeff and Linda Stoltzfus, 118-acres in Colerain Township; Betty Hess, 51 acres in Manheim Township; and an anonymous couple who preserved 47 acres of farmland in Elizabethtown area.

After 14 years with the Trust, Karen Weiss is resigning to take a position in Gettysburg. Gene Garber, whose farm was the first to be

Holsteins, Highways And History At PA Holstein Convention

by Nina Burdette

NOVEMBER 1999 - PA PROFILES

CARLISLE (Cumberland Co.) — The South Central District cordially invites all Holstein breeders, enthusiasts and friends to attend the 2000 Pennsylvania Holstein Convention on Thursday, February 17 and Friday, February 18, 2000 in Carlisle, Pennsylvania. Hosted by the South Central District, the 2000 Pennsylvania Holstein Convention will be one you will not want to miss. All convention committees have been working diligently to make your visit to the South Central district enjoyable, informative and memorable.

With the theme of Holsteins, Highways and History the convention will be two full days of Holstein events held at the Clarion Hotel, Carlisle, Pa. The Clarion is conveniently located just off Interstate 81 and the Pennsylvania Turnpike and features 268 guest rooms and suites all on one level. No stairs or waiting for elevators at the 2000 convention.

Registration will begin at 11 a.m. on Thursday, February 17. Host activities planned for Thursday afternoon include tours of Pennsylvania's state capitol. Take time to visit the many commercial exhibits and the delicious dairy bar on both Thursday and Friday.

The Banquet will take place on Thursday evening at 7 preceded by a 6 Reception. You won't want to miss this very special evening. Included in the evening program will be the announcement of the Distinguished Young Breeder and Hall of Fame awards.

The Awards Breakfast will be held on Friday, February 18 and will feature some surprises. Would you like to be served by a lovely young lady while other attendees visit the buffet? Two tables can purchase this service at auction, to benefit the PA Jr. Holstein members. In addition to the All-Pennsylvania, Progressive Breeder, and Progressive Genetic Herd awards, five special awards will be given to recognize persons who are important to our industry. An auction to raise funds for the PA Juniors will be held during the program and will feature a high quality item from each of the host counties. Breakfast will be hearty and inexpensive.

The Annual Meeting and Ladies Program will both begin at 10:30 a.m. on Friday morning. A unique opportunity awaits those who choose to attend the Ladies Program planned for the 2000 Convention. The program will begin with a shopping stop at a variety of delightful shops in the Village of Colonial Peddlers and The Kitchen Shoppe. The group will then travel to the historic section of Carlisle to The Carlisle House. Following tours of this home built in the 1750s, a delightful luncheon and program will provide an extraordinary experience. The 87th Annual Meeting will review the past year's activities and highlights along with looking forward to the new millennium.

A Pre-Sale Buffet will be available before the Friday evening Convention Sale at 7 p.m. The Convention Sale committee is making selections for what promises to be an outstanding sale. Contact Tom Boyer at 717-225-5240 or Bill Allen at 717-944-1374 about possible consignments. Anyone interested in Holstein cattle will want to attend the Convention Sale.

Optional tours will be available to area farms on Saturday, February 19. A map and directions to area Holstein breeders will be available. The registration committee can customize an itinerary just for you and send you down the highway to the Holsteins and history of the South Central district.

preserved by the Trust, said that a large part of the Trust depends on educating the public.

Garber said, "Karen has done a great job of educating me and others on land preservation."

Weiss said that she sees herself as a facilitator, but it's the farmers who do an overwhelming job in keeping land preservation going.

Also honored were Linda and Patrick Castagna as Distinquished Benefactors of the Year.

Corporate Sponsor of the Year Award went to Serta Mattress Company, which teamed up with the Trust to donate $10 for every mattress sold from April through October. months. More than $15,000 were donated by Serta.

The Amos H. Funk Spirit of Cooperation Award went to Manheim Township

Becky Weiss was honored as the Volunteer of the Year, in particular for her efforts in organizing the Trust's annual picnic.

Stephen Graybill received a Distinquished Service Award for his quiet leadership on the board for six years.

Pete Shaub, county commissioner, and his sister Karen served as auctioneers for the quilt auction. Quilts were suppled by Village Quilts of Kitchen Kettle Village, Intercourse.

then transferred to Penn State where he majored in dairy management After graduation in 1960 he joined the Penn State Cooperative Extension Service. In 1974, he started working at the Farm Show Complex as livestock show manager

Itle manages the annual All-American Dairy Show, the Keystone International Livestock Exposition and the livestock shows at the Pennsylvania Farm Show A colleague of Itle's said, "Charlie Itle keeps his head when everyone else is wondering what can be done and what should be done to solve the problem at hand His behind-the-scenes work and leadership skills are the necessary ingredients for one deserving of the Penn State Dairymen's Club Distinguished Service Award.

This year marks the ninth award. Previous winners include Robert Patton (Monsanto), William Conyngham (Hillside Farm), Larry Specht (Penn State), Dean Amick (PA DHIA), Sam Williams (Bryncoed Farm), Steve Spencer (Penn State), Duane Norman (USDA), Jay Houser (Penn-Dell Farm), and Larry Muller (Penn State). The award recipients are selected from three industry categories – producers, industry representatives, and educators

During the annual meeting, president Jeff Hostetter thanked Chris Swartz and Peter Witmer, who are stepping down from the Dairymen's Club board of directors after serving two 3-year terms Jeff Hostetter was reelected to the board, and Jean Kummer, Butler, and Kara Tusey, Tunkhannock, were newly elected to the board for 3-year terms.

Dr Larry Muller updated the Club on the Department of Dairy & Animal Science. Dale Olver presented the dairy judging team and their achievements this year. Mark Mosemann, Dairy Science Club president, reported on the club's recent activities and upcoming events, including the 75th Anniversary Dairy Expo scheduled for April 15, 2000 Hostetter introduced and thanked Mr and Mrs Warren Poage for awarding the Poage Grant-in-Aid each year to a freshman who excels in dairy cattle judging Stacey Goetz of Mercersburg, won the 1999 grant

In other business, the Club discussed developing a Foundation Herd at Penn State and hosting a dairy careers day in the spring. They also unveiled the "Penn State Dairymen's Club First Edition" half-pint milk bottles. 295 limited edition bottles will be sold for $10 on a first come, first-served basis. The club plans to introduce the second edition at next fall's annual meeting on October 27, 2000.

The Penn State Dairymen's Club is a non-profit support group whose mission is to enhance activities between the dairy industry and the Penn State College of Agricultural Sciences. New members are always welcome. Contact Beth Raney at 405 Ag Admin, University Park, PA 16802, phone 814-863-2525 or send e-mail to bnr1@psu.edu.

Charles Itle (right) accepts the Penn State Dairymen's Club Distinguished Service Award for 1999 from Kirk Sattazahn, Dairymen's Club vice president.

Are You Getting Your Money's Worth?

If You're Not Liming Properly, You're Throwing Away Part Of Every Fertilizer Dollar.

By correcting soil acidity, limestone frees-up desirable nutrients that feed your crop. Plus, limestone ties up toxic elements that reduce crop production.

High nitrogen use in modern farming practices acidifies the soil quickly. This limits your crop vigor and yields. Therefore, today it's more important than ever to lime according to soil test results. Proper liming gives you the most from your fertilizer dollar.

For prompt delivery contact your local Martin Limestone dealer or call Blue Ball, PA.

rect idea, and I feel as farmers we should take heed.

Did the oil companies drill more oil wells to make more money at the gas pumps?

Did they pump out more oil so supplies increased in an attempt to make more money by selling more gallons of gas?

No, they stopped pumping oil out of the ground, simple solution to get supply in check.

I was told the other day, that you can not get all the farmers to stop producing milk and hold back production.

And I was told that farmers were greedy, so they milk more and more cows to make more money at their farms.

I quickly responded and said to think about what the oil companies did.

They got together, globally, and every one of them agreed to stop pumping so they all could make more money.

I am sure the American farmer is not dumb, however it looks like they depend on someone to guide them.

Did they learn anything about economics in college, or did they just learn to get efficient?

Milk as many cows as possible and not worry about costs, and words like profit and mark ups and monopolies.

Proud as we are, I don't feel we are greedy, because if we were greedy, we surely would stop milking as many cows until the price increased so we could make money on the milk.

Globally farmers have not been able to take control of their price at the farms but times are changing and we have a fight on our hands, locally, nationally and globally.

We are feeding the world but not thinking clearly when we have to make a profit.

Strong, we are, intelligent, yes, however, we are being told what we are going to get paid and we show very little intelligence in that regard.

I say we hold back production after the new year, force the market to work for us. Use our intelligence to our advantage.

Editor, every week your paper prints prices of commodities in one form or another, thank you for the vital information. One can only hope farmers globally will get together.

Tobacco Auction Starts Dec. 15

NEW HOLLAND (Lancaster Co.) — Pennsylvania's tobacco marketing season gets under way Wednesday, Dec. 15, here at the Orlon Industrial Park.

The tobacco auction begins at 9 a.m. in the new building at the site, home for the second year in a row for the auction, conducted by the Pennsylvania Tobacco Marketing Association.

The last auction season began Jan. 13 at the industrial park.

According to Jane Balmer, president of the association, there is a demand for tobacco and interest on the part of buyers. Buyers are also looking at last year's crop, most of which has gone unsold.

According to Dennis Hess, manager of the tobacco auction, "there seems to be some interest in tobacco from last year," he said. "That's a good sign."

For more information, contact Hess at (717) 355-5336 or 626-6970.

Hunter And Landowner Link Program Unveiled

CAMP HILL (Cumberland Co.) — Camp Hill in an effort to link hunters and trappers with landowners who are interested in reducing the wildlife population on their property, the Pennsylvania Farm Bureau, in conjunction with the Pennsylvania Game Commission, have come up with a new program. The Hunter/Trapper - Landowner Link Program was approved last month.

Interested landowners are asked to complete a form that includes: name and address, a description of the property including number of acres, sporting arms limitations (for instance only shotgun hunting), maximum number of hunters permitted on property per day, game species of abundance (if a farmer is trying to find hunters who like to hunt groundhogs, for example), hunting limitations and other restrictions (hunting only by daily registration, parking only at certain areas, no tree stands, etc.) Landowners have the right to turn down inquiring hunters/trappers, or turn away hunters/trappers on their property at any time, for any reason.

Participating landowners will have their form posted on the Game Commission's homepage, www.pgc.state.pa.us Landowners would be listed by name and township. An interested hunter could review the forms on the internet and then contact whichever landowner they choose by downloading a hunter/trapper information form, completing it and mailing it with a self-addressed, stamped envelope. Landowners would be expected to reply with the self-addressed, stamped envelope.

The Game Commission is developing a list of landowners who are interested in the program. Landowners who choose to participate in this program are in no way bound to open their property to public hunting/trapping. In fact, their property can even be posted against trespassing.

The Pennsylvania Farm Bureau believes this program will be beneficial to farmers and landowners for several reasons. It will allow farmers with specific wildlife problems, such as geese, deer or turkeys, to link with specific types of hunters. Farmers are not obligated to participate yearly in the program, nor will the program cost them any financial resources. A stronger relationship will be fostered between farmers and sportsmen. Finally, it could serve as a mechanism where the Pennsylvania Game commission begins to issue surplus tags. The Farm Bureau is currently working through the Deer Management working group to secure this position.

Please call Michael Pechart, Wildlife Specialist at the Pennsylvania Farm Bureau for more information regarding this program at 717-761-2740.

Cooper Herd High In York County

JOYCE BUPP
York Co. Correspondent

BAIR (York Co.) — Scott and April Cooper topped the York County DHIA's latest production list, wrapping up the 1999 testing year with a herd average of 29,029 pounds of milk and 909 pounds protein.

The young dairy couple from Delta claimed the first-place herd management award in the county testing program as well with their 73-head milking string, scoring 124 points combine in several management areas.

Awards recognition was the highlight of the annual York County DHIA meeting, held November 18 at the Thomasville Fire Hall.

An additional four of York County's herds on Pennsylvania DHIA testing accepted honors for their overall herd management. In second place, with 101 points, were Glenn and Dawn Anderson, York. Third place was Smyser's Richlawn Farm, York, 100 points, fourth was Rutter Bros., York, with 99 points, and a 93-point score took fifth spot for the Innerst family's Dun-Val Holsteins, Red Lion.

Second high herd in the county for both milk and protein was Smyser's Richlawn Farm, with a 75-cow herd average of 27,407 milk and 852 protein. Rutter's was third high in milk and fourth in protein with an average on their 60-head of 25,764 milk and 799 protein. The Leroy Walker family's Walk-Le herd, Thomasville, ranked fourth in milk and third in protein, with a herd average on their 109 head of 25,643 milk and 811 protein. Glenn and Dawn Anderson were fifth in milk and protein with their 87 head, finishing at 25,026 milk and 795 protein.

Also finishing above the 750-pound protein level were Leonard Greek, Delta, with 776 pounds, WayShar Farm, Glen Rock, 762 pounds, and Calvin Hostetter's Holstein herd, Dover, with 750 pounds.

Topping the low-somatic cell achievement list were the two herds of the Calvin Hostetter family, Dover. In first place was their colored-breed herd, with an average SCC of 100,000, over their second-place Holstein herd, averaging 146,000. Third was the Myron Pomraning family of Delta's My-T herd, with an average of 167,000. Tayacres, the Donnell Taylor family, Delta, finished fourth at 193,000. Gum Tree Farm, Mark and Brian Bupp, Brogue, were fifth with 197,000.

Ranking as the top five herds for having improved pounds of protein were Dun Val Holsteins, 162 pounds, Stump Acres, 73 pounds, Elvin Molison, Hanover, 66 pounds, Fordville Farm, 38 pounds and Scott and April Cooper, 37 pounds.

Taking the top five spots in milk production improvement were Dun Val Holsteins, 4221 pounds, Stump Acres, 2457 pounds, Elvin Molison, 2071 pounds, Leaspring Farms 1987, and Scott and April Cooper, 1186 pounds.

A pair of herdmates from the Cooper herd ranked first and second in protein production in 305-day lactations. "Raven" was high in the county with 1287 pounds of protein from a 38,781 milk pound lactation, topping "Mist" with 1233 pounds of protein and 38,010.

Third high protein lactation was made by "#23" in the Calvin Hostetter herd, with 1168 pounds of protein from 33,247 milk-pounds in 305 days Tayacres was fourth with "Aggie," producing a lactation with 1,167 pounds protein and 37,918 milk. Finishing fifth was "Whoppie," also from the Cooper herd, and a 1148-pound protein production from 37,778 pounds milk.

A pair of Cooper's herdmates were ranked top two in the country for the year in lifetime production completed. "Cooper's "Danielle" finished a lifetime, 8-lactation, record of 269,479 milk, while their "Whitney" tallied an 8-lactation total of 261,028.

Nine individual cows earned certificates for having topped their breed for milk production on York County testing, four of them from the Glenn and Dawn Anderson herd. Their "Regina" has high Ayrshire, with 23,692 pounds of milk Taking the Brown Swiss spot was "306" with 32,866 milk The Anderson's Red Dane, "Sara," topped that breed at 30,649 milk, along with herdmate "JJ," high Mixed Breed cow with 34,662 milk

Rutter's claimed the high Guernsey lactation with "Leamay" and a lactation total of 24,753 milk High Holstein was Scott and April Cooper's "Raven," completing 38,781 pounds of milk production in 305 days Jersey breed honors went to Glenn and Gary Crowl, Airville, with "J70" and her milk production of 18,515

Calvin Hostetter's herd had the high Milking Shorthorn, "Peanut," with a 305-day milk production of 20,186 Red and White Holstein breed high producer was "#107," from Perrydell Farms, York, finishing with a milk lactation of 22,428

Two directors were elected to the county DHIA board during the annual business meeting Chosen to fill those director spots were Dale Goll, Glen Rock, and Paul Rauhauser, Dover Other directors include David Myers, president, Leroy Walker, vice-president, Leonard Greek, secretary-treasurer, and Glenn Anderson

York County's DHIA technicians include JoAnn Baker Lucabaugh, Donald Messinger, Jean Myers and Carolyn and Clyde Stump

Chester County Conducts Dairy Awards Banquet

GUTHRIESVILLE (Chester Co.) — The Chester County 4-H Dairy & Dairy Goat Awards Banquet was conducted Friday, Nov. 5, at the East Brandywine Fire Hall.

A family style roast beef dinner was served to 150 4-H'ers and their famiies and friends.

The Chester County Kids Dairy Goat Club and the New London Dairy Goat Club were in charge of the affair and various 4-H members conducted the meeting with Katie Bates of Gradyville serving as the master of ceremonies. Amanda Grossman, Chester County's dairy princess, presented a speech on the nutritional benefits of milk and dairy products.

Russ Albright of Keystone Farm Credit gave the group an update on the Romano 4-H Center of Chester County. Another successful 4-H Roundup week was conducted in August, including the dairy show hosting 140 dairy animals. Also, a very successful 4-H Center Benefit Auction was held in late September. The money raised at this event will be used to cover current expenses and construct new facilities.

The banquet culminated with entertainment provided by the New London Dairy Goat Club. Erin Whitesel and Chad McKee led the group in a singalong, and other members of the club acted out lines from the song. A good time was had by all.

Dairy goat awards were presented to the high individual project book scores in each club based on the quality and completeness of their book and their performance throughout the 4-H year. Melissa J. Wertz of Downingtown captured the high achievement award for the Chester County Kids Club. In the New London Club, Erin Whitesel had the top project award.

The Jessica Bohmier Memorial Award for Outstanding Achievement in the Chester County 4-H Dairy Goat Program went to Erin Whitesel. Awards were also presented to the fitting and showing champions and the breed champions from the Chester County 4-H Dairy Goat Roundup this past summer.

The top Achievement Award for Dairy based on the total project score was won by Tri-Community member Erica Lloyd of Pottstown with her Jersey cow project, Top-O-Hill Juno Patty Cake. In conjunction with this award, Erica also received a rotating plaque given by Mildred Seeds of Downingtown, in memory of her parents, George and Mary Seeds. Other Achievement Award winners included Abby Hedrick, of the Tri-Community Dairy Club receiving a first year trophy. In the Manor Dairy Club, Katie Bates of Gradyville was the winner and Hannah Wentworth of Quarryville took first-year honors. Meredith Baily, West Chester, captured the award in the Chester Valley Club and Pepper Kissell of Chester Springs was the first-year winner.

Erica Lloyd, 1999 Chester Co. 4-H Dairy Achievement Award recipient.

The Outstanding 4-H Dairy Volunteer Award, established in memory of Ken Brown, a dedicated 4-H dairy parent, was presented to Bob Spangler of Glenmoore. This award was determined from votes by the 4-H dairy members.

Production Awards, based on M.E., 305-day records, 2X were given to the top entries in six breeds. The Ayrshire winner for milk was Pure-Ayr Jalan Donna Marie with 20,519 pounds of milk. The protein award went to Pure-Ayr Reward's April Violet with 672 pounds of protein. Both animals are owned by Elizabeth Young of West Grove. Meredith Baily of West Chester won the milk and protein production award for Linebacks with Pocopson Meadow Sugar, delivering 22,718 pounds of milk and 691 pounds of protein. Erica Lloyd, Pottstown, had the high Holstein for milk and protein, Lundale Journey Debra-TW, with 33,964 pounds of milk and 1,073 pounds of protein. Erica also captured the high milk and protein award for Jerseys with Agape Van Buren Meadow Bear, producing 22,315 pounds of milk and 768 pounds of protein.

In the Brown Swiss breed, Erica also received the high milk and protein award with Brownswitch Con C Krystal, achieving 28,916 pounds of milk and 935 pounds of protein. Julie Sollenberger, Spring City, had the high Guernsey for milk, French Creek Diamond Ann, with 18,141 pounds of milk. Todd Mast of Elverson exhibited the top protein-producing Guernsey, achieving 496 pounds. Trophies were also given out to the 1999 4-H Dairy Roundup Show winners and fitting and showmanship champions.

Farm Credit Awards to Dairy members for excellence in a wide variety of 4-H activities went to Beverly Stoltzfus of Elverson for the Senior Award, a $50 savings bond, and a $25 cash award went to Beverly's sister, Jennifer Stoltzfus, as the junior winner. In the 4-H Dairy Goat division, Melissa Wertz of Downingtown received the $50 savings bond and Erin Whitesel of Landenberg received the $25 cash award.

TANCO AUTOWRAP

THE WRAPPER THAT WRAPS BALES OTHERS WON'T

A complete range of Round, Square & Rectangular Wrappers.

Patented advantages like the unique "Deep Cradle" continuous full width belt, and fully supported turntable where four polyurethane wheels provide Tanco's renowned even and balanced operation, even with overweight and misshapen bales. Quality wrapping and quality machines that has made Tanco among the World's leading manufacturers.

It takes a quality product to do quality work.

TUBE-LINE BALEWRAPPER

For optimum speed and efficiency patented Tube-Line Wrappers are the answer! Tube-Line Wrappers wrap a continuous row of bales. The airtight application of stretch wrap film retains moisture balance as haylage matures and prevents air infiltration. The shrink wrap also prevents wind damage and accommodates variation in bale size and shape without air gaps.

Long stem silage is better used in the animals digestive system. Feeding high quality haylage from wrapped bales can reduce or eliminate feeding grain while retaining or increasing weight gains or milk production.

Tube-Line wrappers for all round bales or large square bales are available in either manual or fully automatic models.

AG WRAP BALE WRAPPER

To the despair of Lebanon Countians, Letie Schadler is retiring. Serving as both director and as family and consumer science agent for Penn State Extension in Lebanon County, Letie has taught thousands of people about nutrition, food preparation, and on numerous consumer issues. Coworkers congratulating Letie on a well-deserved retirement, from left, are Jeannie Strack, secretary; Galen Kopp, dairy and livestock agent; Ginger Pryor, horticulture agent; Letie clasping the hand of Martha Gregory, 4-H coordinator; Norma Swanger, secretary; and Dottie Krall, office manager. Back row from left are Del Voight, multicounty agronomy agent; and John Rutherford, multicounty farm manager agent.

Farewell, Letie

LOU ANN GOOD

LEBANON (Lebanon Co.) — "Some days I would have paid for the opportunity to come to work. This job has been so much a part of my life that it is hard to separate who I am from what I do," said Alletta Schadler or "Letie," as she is more affectionately called.

Serving as both director and as family and consumer science agent at the Lebanon County Extension, Letie is considered an "icon" of household management.

She has answered thousands of questions concerning food nutrition, preparation, preservation, and safety. She's the expert on consumer issues, on leadership development, and numerous other aspects that pertain to home and family.

To the despair of many, Letie is retiring. In her final weeks at the extension office, Letie said, "I've loved the opportunity to teach people real stuff — things they were able to use immediately to solve household problems or that helped them with cooking."

Her concise, direct, and authoritive style are injected with entertaining accounts about her cat Socks and weird things that can happen when cooking goes awry.

Letie's workshops are packed with the latest in food safety, new products, and preparation methods. To assure that her food demonstrations run smoothly, Letie often prepares dishes in advance and serves them to her husband of 41 years — Bill, now a retired district magistrate.

Jeanne Strack, extension secretary, said, "Probably the most repeated phrase in Lebanon County is 'Letie says . . . .'"

Letie has earned "authority" because she thoroughly explains the whys and why-nots behind her answers.

Of the many duties she has fulfilled, Letie said that food safety is the subject that holds the most fascination for her.

"I've always been interested in food chemistry and how things interact," Letie said. "As a kid I was forever trying to create new stuff — even stuff I shouldn't have been concocting — stuff that turned pink or ran over in the oven — but my grandmother was really good about letting me do things. I come from a long line of good cooks," Letie said.

She also honed many of her people skills selling chickens for her father Clarence Manbeck, founder of Farmer's Pride.

When Letie first entered college at Penn State, she studied medical technology. When hospitalized for a tonsilectomy, Letie quickly determined that she would not enjoy a medical career.

While flipping through the college catalog of courses offered, Letie spotted "commercial consumer sevice," and signed up for the courses. That degree landed her a job as director of home economics with Metropolitan Edison Company, Reading.

In 1969, Letie became a home economist for Penn State Cooperative Extension. Five years later, Letie had the distinction of becoming the first female county extension director in the state.

In this role, Letie handled administrative duties for Lebanon County. "She's an exceptional boss and administrator," said Dottie Krall, office manager. "Letie addresses problems head on and keeps everyone working as a team."

Del Voight, multicounty agronomy agent, agreed. "She's my drill instructor. She's very decisive, but she's also very accessible."

Letie also served as interim regional director for the extension and as adjunct faculty member at Penn State's College of Medicine.

Education never stopped for Letie. Through Penn State, she kept abreast of the latest cooking trends. She's watched the changes in Americans' eating habits and diets.

Since she first began teaching, she's observed that people eat more fresh fruit and vegetables, but they also comsume huge amounts of soda and drink less milk.

Food safety rules have changed. There is new awareness of foodborne bacteria made more complex by our food distribution system. Even the method of asking questions have changed. People telephoned questions in the beginning — now consumers e-mail questions or fax them and they demand immediate answers.

Fashions also have changed considerably. Letie wore hats and gloves in the beginning of her career and remembers slamming the car door on the feathers in her hat.

Skirts kept creeping up and up and up in the 1960s-1970s. As fashions changed, Schadler daringly wore pants with a designer tag, which an older lady, unaware of the fashion statement, offered to cut off.

Despite Letie's many extension-related duties, she found time to serve the community in many other ways. She is director of the board for the First National Fredericksburg Bank, on the board of United Way, executive board of Leadership Lebanon Valley of the Chamber of Commerce, past member of the American Heart Association board, a founding member of Lebanon Family Health, and served on the board of South Central Pennsylvania Family Planning Council for five years.

Some of the numerous honors awarded to Letie include being named Woman of the Year by the Pennsylvania Food Industry in 1983, Distinguised Service Awards from National Association of Extension Home Economists, State Distinguished Service from Epsilon Sigma Phi, Gamma Sigma Delta (Internatination Honor Society of Agriculture), Woman of the Year 1994 by the Lebanon Chapter of Business and Professsional Women's Club, 1997 Athena Award from the Chamber of Commerce, and the 1999 Rosemary Schraer Award for Mentoring by the Commission for Women of Penn State University.

After spending some time vacationing in Florida with her husband of 41 years, Letie plans to return to the county and continue to teach food safety workshops to food service people. She hopes to find a niche to write about food issues and possibly talk radio, which she loves.

"These are exciting times with different perspectives. It's unfortunate that the professional home

Turkey Talk-Line Recalls Most Memorable Calls

What a Gas!

A confused woman called the Talk-Line to confirm a family turkey preparation tip that had been passed down from generation to generation — cut a slit in the turkey to rid the bird of gases. The Talk-Line staffer reassured the woman that this process was unnecessary, as turkeys have no "gases" to get rid of and such a procedure would only dry out the bird. Relieved, the caller thanked the staffer for clarifying the family myth, stating it had been literally "blown" out of proportion!

The Inside Scoop

A New Jersey woman called the Talk-Line to share her unconventional turkey preparation method with the experts — to avoid putting her hands in the turkey, the woman uses a coat hanger to remove the turkey giblet bags Talk about hang-ups!

Giving Thanks

While attending a prayer service at her local church, a young woman was distracted with anxiety over upcoming Thanksgiving meal preparations. Upon exiting the chapel, she was thrilled to see the Butterball's Talk Line number on the lobby bulletin board When the woman returned home, she immediately called Talk-Line for advice on preparing a last-minute dinner. After the Talk-Line staffer suggested purchasing a a Butterball Fully Cooked Turkey for a no-fuss feast, the woman thanked Butterball for answering her prayers!

Bundle of Joy

A flustered father called the Talk-Line a few hours after his wife had given birth to their first child. He was concerned that their Thanksgiving turkey had been thawing in the fridge too long while he was at the hospital assisting his wife. When the Talk-Line staffer asked the man how much it weighed, he replied, "The turkey or the baby?" After determining the turkey's weight and thawing time, the staffer assured the proud pop that he would be able to deliver a safe delicious belated Thanksgiving dinner when mom and the new addition returned home.

Closet Cooker

A New Jersey auto mechanic called the Talk-Line to inquire whether or not it was necessary to baste his frozen Butterball Turkey. After the home economist explained it was not necessary, as frozen Butterball turkeys are already deep basted. she offered to send him free Butterball recipes At first the mechanic was interested. then reluctantly declined the offer. citing that should any of his co-workers find out. he might lose his "macho" image After all. what would his garage buddies think if they discovered he knew more about Butterball than brakes?

Timeless Treasures

After discovering a turkey from 1969 in his dad's freezer, an Alabama man called the Talk-Line to inquire if the 30-year-old bird was safe to eat. Although the fabled fowl was safe to eat, the Talk-Line staffer suggested the meat might be less than optimum and recommended purchasing a new turkey for the Thanksgiving feast.

Bird Blunders?

Speaking very softly, an Ohio woman called the Talk-Line for advice on preparing a frozen Butterball Turkey breast. When asked to speak up, the woman confessed she was hiding from her husband who was very angry with her for buying a breast instead of a whole turkey. Apparently, he was concerned the breast meat would be dry and was looking forward to enjoying leftovers after the Thanksgiving dinner. The Talk-Line staffer recommended she cook the breast at 325°F to an international temperature of 170°F to ensure moist, juicy meat and suggested she purchase an additional breast for her husband's leftovers.

Farewell

economist has almost disappeared, but I predict that society will again rediscover the need for home economists," she said.

Typical of her adventurous spirit, Letie plans to attain her pilot license. She has had ties with aviation for years. In fact she owns several planes and the Farmer's Pride airport in Fredericksburg. Her husband, a pilot, has rebuilt several planes.

Schadler's retirement date is Dec. 1. Winifred McGee, who has been a multicounty agent for economic and community development, has assumed leadership as the director of the Lebanon County Extension.

"These seem like big shoes to fill from where I stand," McGee said of filling Schadler's position. McGee will assume the administrative duties as director, but another person will be hired to do the duties associated with family living agent.

During the past 30 years, thousands have enjoyed extension holiday programs by Letie. Here she demonstrates how to make an embossed velvet Christmas stocking.

Does "Tradition" Put Your Family At Risk For Foodborne Illness?

Traditions are a very important part of our lives, especially at holiday time. However, when it comes to food, some of these traditions can put the people we care about at risk for serious illness.

Anyone can get foodborne illness. Some people are especially vulnerable to getting foodborne illness and suffering complications. These include pregnant women, infants and young children, adults over 65 years, and people with chronic illnesses or illnesses that affect how well the body fights sickness and disease. Fortunately, most foodborne illnesses can be prevented by safe food handling.

According the food scientists with the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Meat and Poultry Hotline, one of the riskiest traditions practiced is leaving the cooked turkey out all day at room temperature. The turkey is on the counter, then the table. It is left out after dinner for diners to pick at, often for hours. Unfortunately, while it's sitting there, bacteria that cause foodborne illness are multiplying, doubling every 20 minutes if conditions are right. If just one bacterial cell gets on the bird after it is taken from the oven at 1:00 p.m., by 8:00 p.m. that evening there will be more than 2 million bacteria — enough to cause illness!

To prevent illness, two hours after the cooked bird comes out of the oven, it should be back in the refrigerator. To speed cooling and limit the growth of bacteria, cut the meat from the bone, remove the stuffing, store both in small shallow containers.

For as long as cooks have been preparing Thanksgiving dinners, they've been looking for ways to save time with the fixings. One time saving tradition has been to cook the turkey at a low temperature all night. Family members love waking up in the morning to the aroma of roasting turkey. Overnight cooking is also very popular when a large crowd is expected for dinner. A big turkey takes a long time to cook. Rather than get up at the crack of dawn, the turkey is cooked all night at a low temperature. But it's not safe. Thorough cooking kills bacteria, but cooking at low temperatures (less than 325°F) has the opposite effect. The warmth of low heat actually helps bacteria grow.

There are alternatives to overnight cooking. Cook two smaller turkeys, or use a cooking bag or covered roasting pan to speed cooking. The Hotline received many calls about cooking bags. Callers remember their mother using brown grocery bags for roasting the turkey. Don't use brown bags for cooking. This is not a safe practice and toxins from the glue in the seams of the bag can cause serious illness.

Another area that can lead to foodborne illness is the handling of eggs. Because of emerging problems with salmonella bacteria in unbroken eggs, be cautious when preparing foods made with eggs, especially some desserts like pumpkin or custard pies.

Foods like custard containing eggs, milk and high-moisture content need to be cooked to 160°F until firm to kill bacteria. They also must be refrigerated after cooking, a precaution that's not necessary with most cakes, breads, and cookies. It is also important not to consume raw eggs Use commercially pasteurized eggnog or make your own eggnog with a cooked custard base.

In summary, for safe holiday food:

- Thawing a frozen turkey — Don't thaw on the kitchen counter. Thaw in the refrigerator or microwave (cook immediately after thawing in a microwave)
- Snacking — Snacking off a turkey is fine, but don't leave it out at room temperature for more than two hours.
- Leftovers — To speed cooling, de-bone the turkey and refrigerate in small, shallow containers
- Cooking — Don't cook turkeys overnight at low temperatures Cook at 325°F.
- Desserts — Cook custards to 160°F and refrigerate pies made with eggs
- Eggnog — Don't use a raw egg recipe Use commercially prepared, pasteurized eggnog or make your own with cooked custard base

Avoid Buried In Bills Syndrome

As the holiday season approaches, the best of intentions not to overspend and face a mountain of bills in January could be sabotaged by friends, families or a cute television commercial.

Making a spending plan and sticking to it is one way to stay on track.

If that hasn't worked for you in the past, try this. Make copies of billing statements from November and December 1998 and January 1999, enlarge them, circle the amount due in red and post them in a somewhat private place where you can see them each day (i.e. your closet, nightstand, personal calendar). Copies of checks written to creditors or merchants could also be used. If that helps you recall the feelings of despair from previous years, this could prevent you from overspending this holiday season

Holiday Leftovers

Don't throw out those leftovers!

Thanksgiving meals provide leftover food that is easily converted into delicious new dishes by combining them with refrigerator staples.

"Nothing easily revives leftover holiday meals like mouth-watering cheeses," said Mr. Food, host of the nationally syndicated Mr. Food television segments.

He offers some delicious casseroles recipes using leftovers.

"After the holiday cooking frenzy, leftovers provide inspiration for easy-to-make dishes that aren't time consuming," says Mr. Food. "However, creating exciting new meals from the same leftover can be challenging. But with more than 200 kinds of domestic cheeses available the possibilities for delicious holiday leftovers are endless. Ooh — It's so good."

For more recipes, send a self-addressed, stamped, business-sized envelope to Mr. Food's Holiday Leftovers, ADA Recipe Leaflets, c/o Inland Marketing Services, P.O. Box 2322, La Crosse, WI 54602-2322. Or visit the American Dairy Association's Website www.ilovecheese.com

Here are some recipes from our readers and from Mr. Food. Enjoy!

Cream of Anything Soup is a great way to use leftover vegetables and meat.

TURKEY AND BROCCOLI QUICHE

1½ cups cooked broccoli
1½ cups chopped turkey
1¼ cups shredded cheddar cheese
1½ cups milk
¼ cup Bisquick mix
3 eggs
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper

Combine broccoli, turkey, and cheese. Put into a large greased pie plate or quiche pan.

Blend remaining ingredients in blender for 15 seconds. Pour mixture over turkey and broccoli. Bake at 400 degrees 35-40 minutes or until golden brown.

Ruth Aument
Peach Bottom

SHEPPARD'S PIE

1 pound ground beef
1 small onion, chopped
2 cups leftover corn
2 cups leftover mashed potatoes

Brown beef and onion. Drain excess fat. Press into bottom of shallow casserole dish.

Layer corn and potatoes over meat mixture.

Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes.

Makes 6 servings.

HOT TURKEY AND CHEDDAR CASSEROLE

Butter
3 cups cubed leftover turkey
¾ cup chopped celery
5-ounce can sliced water chestnuts, drained
½ cup chopped red bell pepper
1⅓ cups mayonnaise
1 tablespoon grated onion
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 cups shredded sharp cheddar cheese, divided
1 cup shredded mozzarella cheese, divided
1 cup cornflakes, crushed

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Lightly coat a 9x13-inch baking dish with butter. In a medium bowl, combine turkey, celery, water chestnuts, red bell pepper, mayonnaise, onion, lemon juice, 1 cup cheddar cheese, adn ½ cup mozzarella cheese; mix well. Place the mixture in the baking dish and bake 25-30 minutes or until heated through. Meanwhile in a medium bowl, combine remaining 1 cup cheddar cheese, ½ cup mozzarella cheese, and cornflakes. Sprinkle the cheese mixture over the baked turkey casserole and bake 5 to 8 minutes or until the cheese melts.

SPICY ROAST BEEF AND PEPPER-JACK QUICHE

1 pie crust
1 cup shredded Pepper-Jack cheese
1 cup shredded Swiss cheese
1½ cups finely chopped leftover roast beef
1 cup heavy cream
4 eggs
¼ teaspoon dry mustard
¼ teaspoon black pepper

Preheat oven to 325 degrees. Place pie crust into a 9-inch deep dish pie plate, pressing the crust firmly into the plate. In a medium bowl, combine the Pepper-Jack cheese, Swiss cheese, and roast beef; mix well and spoon into the pie crust. using the same bowl, whisk together the remaining ingredients; pour over the roast beef and cheese mixture. Bake for 55-60 minutes or until a knife inserted in center comes out clean. Cut into eight pie-shaped wedges and serve.

TURKEY AND CHEDDAR GRILL

Cheddar or American cheese, sliced
French or Italian loaf of bread, sliced in half lengthwise
Chunky salsa
Sliced cooked turkey breast

Layer bread halves with cheese, turkey, and salsa and top with additional cheese. Place on cookie sheet. Bake in preheated 350 degree oven for 8-10 minutes or until cheese is melted.

Featured Recipe

Today's featured recipe is from Alletta ('Letie') Schadler, Lebanon County home economist. Letie has taught homemakers how to make hundreds of recipes that are nutritious and delicious. Her methods are often time saving and always prepared with safe cooking methods.

Letie is retiring. Make sure you read the feature about her on page B 2 of this paper.

After a heavy Thanksgiving meal, you'll probably ready for something lighter to eat, but there are all those leftovers in the refrigerator.

This is a great time to make Cream of Anything Soup. You can add leftover turkey and vegetables in almost any combination.

Developed by Letie, this soup recipe makes enough mix to prepare about 12 cups of cream soup. Make the master recipe and keep covered in a tightly covered recipe stored at room temperature. When ready to use, take out the required amount for the number of servings needed, then store the remaining amount for the next time.

This quick mix is easy to make and wonderful to have on hand when rushed for time. As prepared, this is a low fat recipe. To make it richer, add several slices of processed cheese to batch after it is thickened. This adds extra calcium, but also calories and salt.

If you are on a sodium-restricted diet, use low sodium bouillon powder. Use 5 to 6 envelopes of the low-sodium variety instead of 3 tablespoons of the regular granulated bouillon.

CREAM OF ANYTHING SOUP QUICK MIX

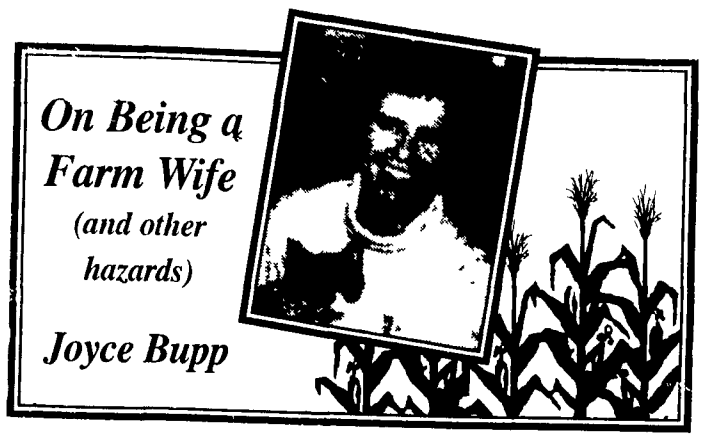
2 cups non-fat dry milk powder
¾ cup corn starch or regular clear-jel
3 tablespoons instant granular chicken bouillon
2 tablespoons instant minced onion
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1¼ teaspoon dry herbs (blend or combination)
¼ teaspoon ground pepper

Combine all ingredients in a dry one-quart container. Stir or shake to mix. Keep covered tightly and store at room temperature. (4 tablespoons of mix will thicken and flavor 1 cup water).

To make soup:
3 cups water
⅔ cup mix
1 to 2 cups cooked vegetables
1 to 2 cups cooked meat, optional
Optional: 2 to 3 slices processed cheese

Blend water and mix together. Bring to a boil stirring occasionally. Add cooked vegetables. Pour into blender container. Blend to texture desired. You may want to blend this in two batches. Return to saucepan, add cheese if desired, and heat to serving temperature. Add meat if desired.

Note: This same mixture can be used to make a sauce for vegetables. Combine and bring to a boil:
1¾ cups water
⅔ cup mix
2 tablespoons butter



It's every farmer's nightmare.

The source. unknown The cure. non-existent. The solution· slash, burn, and destroy.

And it's a nightmare that has become reality for fellow farmers living less than an hour away.

It's called Plum Pox Virus.

Sounds like something your kids might pass around to each other in kindergarten and be uncomfortable with for a few days from fever and spots and irritability. Except it isn't.

This innocuous-sounding infestation spells disaster to its host And its host is trees. Fruit trees.

Peaches, plums, nectarines, apricots, cherries. "Stone" fruits, those with a hard pit-seed in the middle of them Once inflicted with the virus, plum pox infested trees yield fruit which is spotted and splotchy Unmarketable. Even though not harmful to people, no parent, for instance, is going to want to feed such fruit to their kids

A fruit orchard which yields harvests unsuitable for productive marketing is little more than an expensive block of shade

Destroying the trees - ripping their roots from the ground, bulldozing them into great piles of naked roots and shredded limbs, then setting the piles ablaze - is apparently the only way to stop the spread of this costly plague While orchardists watch their years of time, money, and sweat equity literally go up in smoke

Aphids reportedly spread the virus, as well as exposure of healthy plants to infected plant material Aphids, tiny sucking insects, seem to be able to live on almost any plant given the right conditions, but they don't usually wreak this much havoc When aphids turn up on one of my houseplants, it's not too hard to zap the little buggars with a spray bomb or simply swish the plants around in warm, soapy water

But in the case of plum pox virus, killing the carrier aphids is a case of the proverbial closing the barn door after the horse has run off While fruit production specialists don't know for certain how plum pox got here, the disease has apparently devastated European orchards in the past That the virus has breached the borders of the US should be a wake-up call to our agricultural experts

And to everyone who likes to eat.

Because our food supply – cheap, plentiful and safe – is, I believe, increasingly at risk Not just from a fruit tree virus But from a wide range of destructive diseases floating around the plant which can easily wipe out the raw production of food and fiber. As the world shrinks, as imports of food and commodities continue to increase in the escalation of the world trade agreements, destructive pests and debilating diseases of our domestic food supply lurk on our doorstep.

Remember that Avian Flu which caused the destruction of millions of chickens here in our area just a few years ago? Before that, a pig disease called Pseudorabies battered parts of the pork industry "Mad cow" disease wreaked havoc on British beef producers and sent prickly cold chills down the backs of those of us who make our living from cattle And the equine infections anemia virus, which affects horses somewhat similar to the way HIV (AIDS) affects the immune system of humans, was recently found in about two dozen Pennsylvania horses

With the millions of people who fly in and out of this country every year, and cargo loads of foodstuffs and commodities that arrive daily at air, ship and rail terminals, preventing the "immigration" of potentially devastating diseases to our food supplies is truly a daunting task And growing more difficult every day

It could be any of us Anywhere Producing anything

For our fellow farmers - orchardists whose lives and livelihoods have been turned upside-down by a microscopic, foreign-sourced viral infection - our hearts are saddened

And in this busy season, between our national thankfulness for abundant food and an international celebration of giving, it behooves us all to give them an extra mention in our prayers

New Television Spots Tout Milk

ROSEMONT, Il — Dairy Management Inc (DMI)™ and the Milk Processor Education Program (MilkPEP) joined forces to launch the first national television advertising campaign the two organizations jointly created and funded

The new campaign adds "health benefit" messages to the popular "got milk?" commercials Each spot targets a separate population segment – including children, teenagers and adults The ads use humor to capture attention and close with a tagline that is an offshoot of the "got milk?" question

"The campaign is designed to encourage Americans to increase their calcium intake — and improve their overall diets — by drinking cold glasses of nutrient-packed milk.

ANSWER — Holly Carey wanted a recipe for a wet bottom chocolate shoofly pie that tastes like that served at Bird-in-Hand Family Inn. Thanks to E. Shirk for sending a recipe.

Chocolate Shoo-Fly Pie

Liquid mixture:
2 cups sugar
2 tablespoons corn starch
2 tablespoons flour
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 tablespoons cocoa
2 tablespoon butter
2 cups water

Combine ingredients and bring to a boil and divide into the bottom of five pie crusts.

Topping:
Cream together:
2 cups brown sugar
1 cup shortening or oil
2 eggs
4 tablespoons cocoa
2 cups molasses
2 teaspoons baking soda
2 teaspoons vanilla
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cinnamon
5 cups flour

Spread topping over liquid layer. Bake at 350 degrees until done, about 35-45 minutes.

ANSWER — M. H. wanted a custard recipe for use in filled doughnuts. Thanks to E. Shirk for sending a recipe.

Custard Doughnut Filling

2 cups milk
⅔ cup sugar
3 eggs, separated
5 tablespoons flour
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla

Scald 1½ cups milk in top of double boiler. Combine sugar, flour, and salt. Add remaining milk to dry ingredients to make a smooth paste. Add paste to scalded milk and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Slowly add beaten egg yolk and cook 2 minutes more. Remove from heat and add vanilla. Cool. When cooled, add stiffly beaten egg whites and blend into mixture.

ANSWER — Esther Lapp, Millersburg, wanted good recipes for canning and freezing. Thanks to L. Zimmerman, for sending several of her favorites.

Chili Soup To Can

10 pounds ground beef
2 gallons chili or navy beans, cooked
2½ pounds shell macaroni
1 gallon ketchup
2 cups brown sugar
8 teaspoons chili powder
1 stalk diced celery
7½ quarts tomato juice (more or less)
Salt and pepper to taste

Lightly brown meat. Add remaining ingredients except beans and boil 10 minutes. Add beans and simmer 30-45 minutes. Pour into hot clean jars. Pressure can at 10 pounds pressure for 20 minutes.

Pizza Sauce To Can

10 quarts tomato juice
2½ cups vegetable oil
10 teaspoons salt
5 teaspoons pepper
¾ cup sugar
20 teaspoons oregano
10 onions, chopped in blender with some tomato juice

Combine ingredients and cook one hour. Add thermo flo (preferred) or Clear-Jel dissolved in cold water or juice (about 1 cup or until sauce mixture thickens to the consistency preferred). Put into jars and seal in water bath.

Three Bean Casserole

15 pounds ground beef
4-6 cups chopped onion
2 cups granulated sugar
5 cups ketchup
2½ cups barbecue sauce
½ cup mustard
½ cup molasses
Salt to taste
2 tablespoons chili powder
2 tablespoons pepper
10 cups kidney beans
10-pound can butter beans or green beans

Brown ground beef and onion together. Combine remaining ingredients. Bake at 350 degrees for one hour. Divide into portions desired and place in freezer containers. Freeze.

MOZZARELLA AND CRANBERRY MUFFIN BAKES

5 English muffins, each split in half
8-ounce can cranberry sauce
3 cups shredded mozzarella cheese
2½ cups cubed cooked turkey
20-ounce can sliced pineapple, drained

Preheat oven to 450 degrees. Place the muffin halves cut side up on a cookie sheet. Spread the cranberry sauce evenly over the muffins. Sprinkle half of the mozzarella cheese on the muffins then top with equal amounts of turkey. Top each with a pineapple slice and sprinkle with the remaining mozzarella cheese. Bake for 10-12 minutes, or until heated through and the cheese is melted.

Driving Privileges Revised For Teens

Teen driving fatalities and injuries are on the rise. To address this issue House Bill 10-- Graduated Driving Licensing (GDL) was signed by Governor Tom Ridge in June. The law requires the following of young drivers:

- a six-month period while a 16- or 17-year-old holds a learner's permit,
- 50 hours of adult-supervised, behind-the-wheel experience,
- the supervising adult must be at least 21 years old,
- a 90-day suspension for a conviction of driving violations before age 18,
- when the driver is under age 18, the number of passengers cannot exceed the number of seat belts,
- the driving curfew for junior license holders will run from 11 p m. until 5 a m.

The last two conditions of the law are effective now, while the remaining conditions will go into effect December 25. These changes to the licensing systems make Pennsylvania's teen driver program one of the strongest in the nation.

Cook's Question

ANSWER — Irene Hurst, Newmanstown, wanted a recipe for honey mustard pretzels. Thanks to Karen Wampole, Perkasie, and others for sending recipes.

Honey Mustard Pretzels

1 pound broken hard pretzels
1 cup melted butter
1 package honey dijon dry salad mix
1 teaspoon dill
½ teaspoon garlic powder

Pour mixture over broken pretzels and mix well. Spread pretzels on cookie sheets and bake 20 minutes at 275 degrees.

Honey Mustard Pretzels

2 pounds broken sourdough pretzels

Break pretzels as fine as possible into a large bowl. Mix together the following:

1 cup vegetable oil
½ cup salad mustard
½ cup honey
¼ cup sour cream and onion powder, if desired.

Pour mixture over broken pretzels and mix thoroughly with a spatula to coat every pretzel piece.

Spread coated pretzels in pan. Bake at 200 degrees, stirring every 15-20 minutes for approximately two hours or until done.

Delicious while warm or cool. Store in airtight container until ready to serve.

ANSWER — Richard Kleckner, Quakertown, wanted recipes for one-dish meals. Thanks to Pauline Hess Fisher, Lancaster, for sending a few of her favorites.

Green Bean Casserole

1 pound ground beef
1 onion
10-ounce tomato soup
½ pound green beans, cooked
5 potatoes, mashed
1 egg
½ cup milk

Brown ground beef and onion. Stir in soup and cooked green beans. Mash potatoes with egg and milk. Season with salt and pepper.

Grease casserole dish. Put in meat and soup mixture. Top with mashed potatoes. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes.

Five Hour Beef Stew

1½ pounds chuck roast
1 cup celery
3 potatoes
4 carrots
1 onion
½ cup bread crumbs
1 can tomatoes, cut
2 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons tapioca
3 dashes Worcestershire sauce

Cover tightly. Bake at 250 degrees for five hours.

Chicken Ham Or Beef Casserole

2 cups diced meat
2 cups milk
2 cups uncooked macaroni
2 cans mushroom soup
½ pound diced cheese
2 chopped medium onions
1 cup peas

Mix and let stand overnight in refrigerator. Bake in 9x13-inch greased pan at 350 degrees for one hour. Very good. Serves 15.

Thanks to Anne Losten, Elkton, Md., for sending this timely recipe.

Hunter's Breakfast

6 slices day-old bread, cubed
4 or 5 eggs, slightly beaten
2 cups milk
1 cup shredded cheddar cheese
¼ teaspoon dry mustard
1 pound sausage, browned

Layer ingredients in 13x9-inch greased casserole pan. Refrigerate casserole at least five hours before baking or overnight. Bake at 325 degrees for 40 minutes, covered, and 10-20 minutes uncovered.

Thanks to Barbara Hege, Chambersburg, for sending a recipe that she writes makes a good family dinner.

Sunday Casserole

8 cups grated raw potatoes
2 cups uncooked macaroni
2 cups peas
2 cups raw meat
1 pound grated cheese
8 cups milk
3 teaspoons salt
½ cup grated onion

Mix together uncooked ingredients in casserole dish. Bake at 250-275 degrees for 3½ hours.

Up In Smoke

A Washington woman called the Talk-Line in search of a little turkey therapy. Two years prior, her stove burst into flames while cooking the turkey at 500 degrees, so she was looking for a safer turkey preparation method. The home economist reassured her that if she follows Butterball's open pan roasting method (roasting at 325°F) her turkey (and her stove) would be safe!

A Diamond in the Stuff

A nervous young man, planning to propose to his girlfriend over a special Thanksgiving turkey dinner, called the Talk-Line to inquire if it was safe to bake the engagement ring in the stuffing. Instead of cooking it, the Talk-Line staffer suggested he slip the ring into the stuffing right before serving and dish his unknowing bride-to-be a helping with lots of carats!

Why do termites eat wood?

Termites crave the main ingredient of wood, called cellulose Plants such as grass, celery, leaves, cotton — and of course trees — all have a lot of the tough, stringy fiber termites eat

Termites couldn't digest cellulose without some help, though Tiny, tiny bugs live in their gut Depending on the type of termite, the bugs are either bacteria or protozoa. These digestive helpers break down the fiber into sugars the termites can use for energy Without bacteria or protozoa, the termites would starve

Termites live in huge colonies, and every insect has a job to do Soldier termites protect the colony, king and queen termites produce baby termites, and the workers collect the food They build nests where there's lots of moisture in the soil. Most of the time, they find damp wood to feed on in a forest. But sometimes termites make their way into the wood structures holding your house together.

If you see pencil-sized mud tubes built over the surface of your home's foundation walls, or mud protruding from cracks between boards and beams in your basement, then termites might be feeding on your house (The termites build the mud tubes to help keep the humidity high.)

If you do have termites in your house, though, don't panic. Termites eat pretty slowly. It would take years for a house to collapse from a termite colony. A good exterminator can get rid of the termites — and keep your house safe and sound

Hunting Season — A Time For Bonding
A Tale Of A Father And Son

There isn't any other time of year that my husband gets more pleasure than during hunting season. Next to attending our children's activities, it ranks right up there in the top two things that he would rather be doing more than anything else.

Like most people, when you dearly love something, you usually want to share your enthusiasm with those around you. Since my interest in hunting only consists of visiting a mall searching for the lonely dear widow specials, I have not been an enthusiastic companion in this part of our relationship. In fact, our relationship is much healthier because I do not share this activity with him. According to him, I wouldn't be able to keep quiet long enough for anyone in the woods to hunt. I've respected his solitude in the woods and sacrificed myself to the swarms of people doing holiday shopping — they don't mind me talking even if it is to myself.

So who did he share this special bonding time with?

Our first born son.

My husband started planning our son's first deer hunting experience as soon as he turned 12. Together they attended the local hunter's safety course. Carefully they studied the materials from front to finish and celebrated when he passed. On weekends they executed the task of "shooting the guns in." My husband was floating on a cloud, and our son loved the attention. I enjoyed just watching the interaction between father and son — teacher and student. There are a lot of ways you can show pride, and my husband's face exemplified the word.

To my husband, teaching his first son about the safety skills of being in the woods with a gun was not without some fear. As a volunteer paramedic, he has seen what can happen when people are careless so he takes gun safety very seriously. He continually reviewed safety procedures and precautions.

The big day came. With the appropriate clothing purchased (talk about shopping for hours on end — these guys can't say anything about my shopping trips to the mall!), guns cleaned, safety procedures reviewed again, boots waterproofed, and clothing laid out, they were ready. Oh yes, they went to the local grocery store to purchase a sack full of carefully selected food items for stamina to last the day in the woods. If you are familiar with a 12-year-old boy's appetite at this stage of development, you will understand that the sack of food was heavier than the gun.

As any good supportive wife and mother, I assumed the role of cooking the inaugural hunter's breakfast. After all, I wanted this to be special! I also took pictures which made them both growl, but deep inside, I knew my husband was thanking me. It just wasn't cool to admit to it in front of our son.

They arrived in the woods. It was a blustery cold rainy day. No snow, but cold enough to make you want to just sit in the truck and wait for the deer to walk by. No, this is not my husband's idea of hunting. The two of them found their spot in the woods (they sat about three feet apart with their backs to one another, so that their field of vision was covered) and waited and waited and waited in the cold freezing rain as the fog slowly settled around them.

After about three hours of sitting, my husband spotted an eight-point deer walking toward them. Quietly he whispered to our son to look in that direction. The deer kept walking closer while my husband tried to quietly direct our son's attention in the correct direction without spooking the deer. At about 30 yards away, the deer stopped. There was dead silence between the three of them. My husband had a direct unobstructed view of the deer, and he wanted our son to take the shot. There was one problem — a tree was blocking our son's view of the deer, so he couldn't see the deer let alone take the shot.

Did I mention that my husband did not take his gun into the woods?

Yes, he wanted this to be our son's day.

Now, you can probably imagine my husband's frustration of having an 8-point deer standing in such close proximity, not having a gun, and not knowing why our son had not fired a shot (remember they couldn't talk for fear of spooking the deer). So, my husband just sat there quietly questioning the wisdom of not bringing his gun along and watched the deer slowly walk by without a care in the world. They didn't see another deer that day.

A story with an unhappy ending?

Not in the least!

A father and son shared a moment in time — in our family we call this "making memories."

For a few months, father and son shared a dream and bonded as a parent and child should.

During this season of giving, make a commitment to your child to give the priceless gift of yourself throughout the whole year. It costs simply your time and love. It's the most wonderful gift you can give your child.

Oh by the way, when our next son turned 12, my husband took his gun along — just in case. Safe hunting!

Ida's Notebook

by

Ida Risser

It is beginning to look a lot like winter outside as the leaves are off of the trees. Only my mums are still blooming as I have covered them for several nights. But the red geraniums are blooming nicely on the windowsill.

The basement floor has nine different kinds of flower bulbs laying there to dry. Many were left outside to freeze as I don't know anyone who wants them.

The turkey has been bought and I will have to put together a menu as several of our children are coming home the Sunday before Thanksgiving. Then on the holiday they will be with other members of their families. We'll probably have leftovers by ourselves.

Last week my high school class had its bimonthly meeting at a restaurant in Lancaster. By this time it seems that health is one of the most important subjects to discuss. We remember the members who are too ill to attend. One of our members drives from New Jersey every time to be with us.

At one of our summer meetings, we picked another subject. The men told us of their World War II experiences. Some were pilots, some truck drivers, and some were orderlies. It was an emotional time for all of us as we remembered living through the war.

I kept the letters that were sent to me by servicemen who worked where I was employed. Now in recent years, I've been able to return these letters to members of their families. Several of these young men were killed as they fought for their country.

As all of this happened 50 years ago, it is so easy to forget unless something like Veterans Day reminds us. I do not think that our young people can begin to appreciate how much was sacrificed for our present life of freedom.

Robert and Joyce Hoffman were independent farmers from separate counties who became acquainted after a story on Joyce appeared in Lancaster Farming, Oct. 15, 1994. Because her herd was larger, Robert moved his cows to the Ringler farm in Somerset County. The newlyweds hold the news article, which is framed behind glass to preserve as a permanent memory of their budding romance.

Newspaper Clipping Leads Fellow To Cow Purchase And Future Wife

GAY BROWNLEE
Somerset Co. Correspondent

BERLIN (Somerset Co.) — Marriage is wonderful but newlyweds Robert Hoffman and Joyce Ringler Hoffman have been confronted with a livestock dilemma since joining hearts and herds — where to house their 90 head of cows?

Meanwhile, the weather is getting colder and Hoffman's cows brought along from York Springs, Adams County, no longer can remain outside.

"I thought it would be simpler than it was," said Joyce, the new bride who grew up on a national bicentennial farm near Berlin and does her own breeding.

Her registered herd of about 60 Holsteins pretty well fills the barn stalls. Heifers are being shifted around.

"The place isn't big enough for his cows and we may have to sell some lower end (production and type) cows so we can increase the value and genetics of what we have," Joyce said

She added, "When we put our herds together it wasn't fair to sell his cows and it wasn't fair to sell my cows"

So at first, they didn't sell any cows.

The independent dairyman's cows had been used to pasture-grazing. Until seasonal changes brought a downturn of the local thermometer there had been no problem.

"Now that it is colder, it becomes more of an issue," Joyce said.

Hoffman first took an interest in the Somerset County woman after her story appeared in Lancaster Farming's Homestead Notes, Oct. 15, 1994. His interest, however, was related to the profession they shared — dairy farming.

"I came across the article and was impressed, he said. "I read it a second time and a third time," the husband reported on November 17, days prior to their six-week anniversary.

The article related how the progressive young woman had brought her parents, Jim and Bonnie Ringler's 44-head of Holsteins, determined to prove to him that embryo flushing was money waiting to be made. She was the Somerset County AI technician.

"Joyce was flushing cows and doing the things that I had always wanted to do," Hoffman said.

So he saved the article and took a much keener interest in tracking her progress through published DHIA information and sale advertisements, watching for her consignments.

Finally, last February, the patient man was rewarded. A heifer of Joyce's was listed in the catalog for the state convention

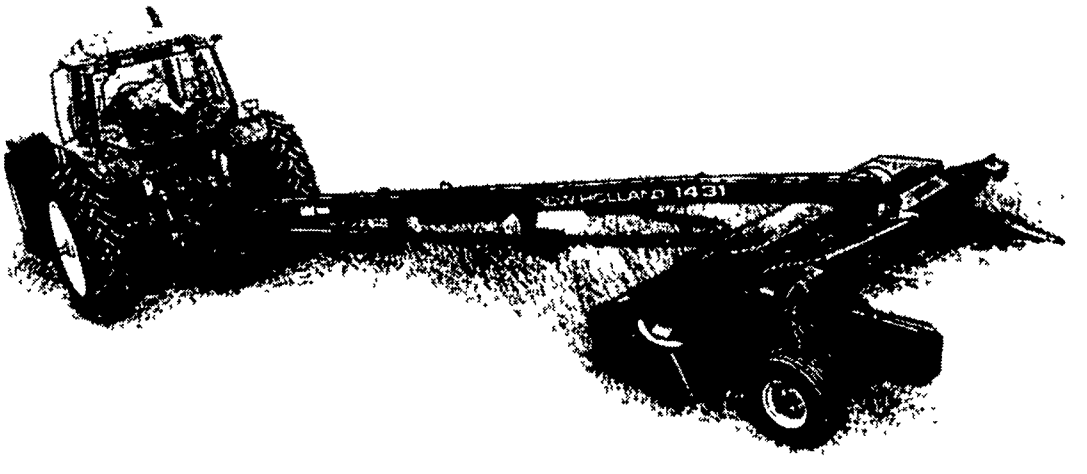
Cut faster, condition better

For greater maneuverability and higher efficiency, nothing beats the Model 1431 Discbine® disc mower-conditioner from New Holland. It features a 13' cutting width, and operates at high ground speeds in wet, heavy grass without plugging. Fire anthills and gopher mounds won't stop the new Model 1431 either.

Outstanding features include:

- A center pivot-tongue design
- Independent modular cutterbar with ten small-diameter cutting discs
- 102" wide conditioning rolls
- A full range of vertical and lateral flotation
- A torsion-bar roll-pressure system
- A cutterbar driven from both ends

For maximum harvesting efficiency, check out the Model 1431 Discbine. It's the best in the field.



Gifts From The Garden

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

STEWARTSTOWN (York Co.) — Now is the season that people are scrambling to make holiday gifts with a personal touch.

Pat Sweetman has plenty of ideas. Those herbs harvested from your garden and hanging from the rafters or strewn on newspapers across the attic floor are exactly what is needed to complete your holiday gift list.

If you do not have herbs, Pat has plenty to sell from those she's grown and harvested around her wonderful 1827 stone house.

Stone Haus Herbs, Stewartstown, refers to Pat's workshop tucked behind the grainery and adjacent to the 19th century farmhouse.

Pat is a master gardener who lectures and demonstrates on gardening and herb-related subjects. At Stone Haus Herbs the motto is "Educating you in the joy of herbs." The shop is stocked with herbal crafting supplies, soapmaking supplies, herbal books, calendars, dried herbs, fixed and essential oils, and other related items.

Pat teaches classes on herbs for culinary, medicinal, and craft purposes.

When a move brought the Sweetmans to the York area seven years ago, they found the stone farmhouse in need of repair.

"When we looked at the property seven years ago, my husband said that he was buying this for me so that I could expand my flock of sheep, which I was boarding elsewhere, and also expand my gardening," said Pat.

"I married a man who couldn't hammer a nail," Pat said of her husband whose job has required the couple to move all over the world. "But now that he's started hammering, he loves it."

In retrospect, Pat claims her husband did not buy the farmhouse for her projects but because he loves the challenge of fixing up an old house.

The first winter the couple experienced after moving in was a long, hard winter. A blizzard in March found the couple shoveling out a foot of snow from the attic.

"I really find it challenging living in his project," Pat said of the constant work associated with renovating the house. "We will never be finished even when we're six-feet under."

When purchased, the three-story farmhouse had no floor on the lower level. Dirt had to be shoveled out by hand because there was not enough space to operate machinery. Pat said as her husband dug, she heard him constantly repeating in rhythm to his shoveling, "My father said that if I get an education, I'd never have to dig a ditch."

Pat makes several different kinds of soap, some of which are poured into molds. She sometimes allows solid blocks to solidify and cuts them with cookie cutters for holiday shapes.

A soup wreath features a variety of herbs for soup making. Three varieties of sage, shallots, safflowers, and bay leaves. Pat makes these wreaths using fresh herbs from her garden then dries them face down for about a week. This method allows the plants to dry facing out and gives a "living" look to the wreath.

Pat enjoys a cup of herb made with tea leaves from her garden.

With Pat's dry humor, it is often difficult to discern whether or not she is serious or poking fun, but she does admit the renovation allows her to do something she loves — paint.

"I paint whatever I hate to see," she said of uneven walls, ceilings, and floors.

She finds great pleasure in painting the walls and beams, stenciling the floors, and wall murals. Although Pat claims she is no artist and has had no formal teaching, she said of her folk art murals — one painted to cover a fireplace opening, another on the staircase wall, and another at the threshhold — that folk art allows doesn't need to be drawn exactly to scale.

Pat also reupholsters furniture and is adept at intergrating the old with the new.

Hanging from the rafters in the dining-sitting room area is an assortment of herbs, baskets, and copper pans. A collection of antique plates are hung on the wall interspersed with many treasures found while the couple lived in Germany, England, Holland, Greece, and other areas of the U.S.

Homespun touches of rag and hook rugs, aroma of herbs and of osage oranges drying, of framing crocheted pieces from three different grandmothers are part of appreciating her heritage.

On the property, Pat raises Rambouillet sheep for wool and meat. The tallow from the sheep is used to make all-natural soap.

"My grandmother always made soap in October, so I do too," Pat said.

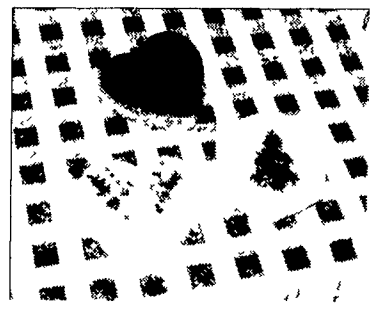
However, Pat teaches classes in "making soap from scratch like your grandma never made."

She combines herbs with her soap making. In one bar, a twig of lavender shines through a bar of glycerine soap. Another bar reveals three distinct layers of peppermint, cornmeal, and oatmeal.

"The peppermint invigorates the skin, the cornmeal removes dead skin, and the oatmeal softens the skin," Pat said.

Pat is also a strong believer in aroma therapy — not necessarily to heal illnesses but for the emotional lift a person receives from breathing pleasant aromas.

Sleep pillows using a mixture of restful herbs such as roses, camomile, lavendar, meadow sweet, lemon verbena, and hops, are a favorite class at Stone Haus Herbs. The long, thin pillows are tucked inside a pillow case with the bed pillow. The herbs release an aroma as they are pressed by the pressure of resting your head on them.



Called "glass" soaps, these are made with herbs and glycerine.

Pat also fills little cloth bags with herbs to place in baths and sachets for in drawers. Bath salts and powders are some more of her specialties. Another unique herbal usage is to combine a mixture of herbs tied in cloth that can be used like soap, then hung in the shower to dry. Herbs can also be used in closets to repel moths and to absorb odors.

A delightful decorating touch is to take small styrofoam balls covered with glue and rolled in mustard seed, peppercorn, or crumbled herbs.

"It's best to spray paint the balls a dark color before covering," Pat said. This prevents white from showing through.

Her grandmother influenced Pat to use herbs in cooking. She's expanded on her grandmothers' usage and experiments with many unusual herbs in addition to the classics.

Recipes to create pumpkin pie spice, herbal butters, and other culinary gifts are included at the end of this article.

Pat fills little cloth bags with spices to simmer in soups and broths. In fact, Pat has several dry soup mixes for the busy homemaker. All that is needed is to dump the mixes into broth and cook until soft.

"Herbs should be used within a year; otherwise, they lose potency," Pat said. "Herbs are to grow and use, not to last 100 years."

However, if the herbs are old, Pat has a use for them — as fireplace starters. The dried herbs quickly light and send a sweet aroma through the house.

Childhood Obesity On The Rise

TUNKHANNOCK (Wyoming Co.) — In the United States, at least one child in five is overweight and the rate is growing. During the past two decades the number of overweight children has increased by more than 50 percent and the number of extremely overweight children has nearly doubled.

Tackle childhood obesity by starting with a visit to the primary care provider. Most overweight children do not have a glandular problem. Medical problems linked to overweight are rare (less than 1 out of every 100 cases of obesity in children).

Get active! Children are increasingly overweight because, although they eat no more than youngsters did 20 years ago, most are less active. One survey found that fewer than 25 percent of children in grades 4-12 take part in 30 minutes of any physical act.

Be a role model for children – walk to school and stores, take the stairs instead of the elevator, plan outdoor play alongside children.

Limit sedentary activities. The American Academy of Pediatrics recommends a daily limit of not more than 1-2 hours for TV watching and video/computer game playing.

Provide toys and gear that make children want to become active. Consider a tennis racquet or basketball as gifts or bonuses.

Offer activities, not food, as rewards. Go bowling or roller-skating for a treat rather than buying cakes and snacks.

Plan family activities like a car wash, or hula hoop contest to have a lot of fun while getting exercise at the same time.

— Information for "Childhood Obesity" based on the American Academy of Pediatrics' Guide to Your Child's Nutrition. For ordering information, contact the AAP at 800-433-9016.

You ask You answer

This column is for readers who have questions but don't know who to ask for answers.

"You Ask—You Answer" is for non-cooking questions. When a reader sends in a question, it will be printed in the paper. Readers who know the answer are asked to respond by mailing the answer, which will then be printed in the paper.

Questions and Answers to this column should be addressed to You Ask—You Answer, Lancaster Farming, P.O. Box 609, Ephrata, PA 17522. Attention: Lou Ann Good.

Or, you may e-mail questions and answers to lgood.eph@inpnews.com

Please clarify what question you are answering when responding.

Do not send a self-addressed, stamped envelope for a reply. If we receive the answer, we will publish it as soon as possible. Please include your phone number because we sometimes need to contact the person to clarify details. We will not publish your phone number unless you request it.

QUESTION — Paul Dowie has what he believes is a Longrich brand musical instrument: 32 brass rods of increasing lengths, closely suspended with strings to a 15-inch long 1x2-inch board. Run a spoon up or down for a "tinkling" scale. If this is something you can play, call Paul at (610) 827-7561.

QUESTION — A reader wants to know if the cross stitch store, Stitch in Time, which had been at Brickerville, has moved elsewhere or if it went out of business?

QUESTION — Pete Westover, Windsor Mill, Md., has only two cows, which require more time milking by hand than he desires. He wants to purchase inexpensive equipment, not $1000, which he had been quoted, to justify the cost of a milking machine. He has electric but not a compressor.

QUESTION — Pete Westover, Windsor Mill, Md., remembers prints by Paul Detlefsen being used as bank and small town business decor about 20 years ago. Westover has a water-buckled print of a streamside smithy with the blacksmith helping children with a wagon. He remembers one of a ford, and another of kids playing in the pool below a mill wheel. If any readers have Dettlefsen prints to sell, know of a source for them, or can provide additional information on Dettlefsen, contact Westover at 2445 Ridge Rd., Windsor Mill, MD 21244.

QUESTION — Dorothy Starr, 480 Stover Shop Rd., Churchvill, Va. 24421, would like to buy milk bottles of all sizes from Indian Run Dairy and from Fishers Golden Guernsey Dairy of Danville.

QUESTION — Lois K. Martin, Bridgewater, VA, wants to purchase the following books written by Anne Colver: "Bread and Butter Indian," "Bread and Butter Journey." She would also like the book, "Lucinda," written by Vesta-Nadine Severs.

QUESTION — Suzy Almony wants a set of red and white "Currier and Ives" plates made in the U.S.A. by Homer Laughlin.

QUESTION — Karen Mull, Elizabethtown, would like to know where to purchase an agitator for an electric butter churn manufactured by Alabama Manufacturing Co. The agitator is plastic. The motor sets on top of a barrel shaped 3-gallon jar. The agitator fits on the lid inside the jar. The company must have gone out of business because letters addressed to the address on the motor are returned. Anyone know where to find an agitator?

ANSWER — For those who wanted to purchase white winter wheat, Glenn Shuffer has some to sell. Write to him at 4063 Sawmill Rd., Bloomsburg, PA 17815.

Cumberland County Farm Women Gather For Convention

CARLISLE (Cumberland Co.) — Cumberland County Society of Farm Women held its 60th annual convention recently. More than 180 members attended the event held at the Clarion Hotel, Carlisle.

County president Donna Duncan called the convention to order. Group 14 conducted the devotions and led the group in the allegiance to the flag.

First vice president Betty Wert led the group in reading the purpose of the Farm Women Society of Pennsylvania.

Group 10 provided a memorial service for the nine members taht the society lost during the past year. A Quilt of Life was displayed that consisted of quilt blocks depicting the many qualities of one's life.

The morning session included a presentation from Cumberland County's Dairy Ambassador Amy Kulick and folk songs sang by Nancy Victor. The county honored eight members who are 80 years old: Ethel Wickard, Group 7; Pauline Jacoby, Group 9; Margaret Shughart, Group 9; Ima (Peg) Mell, Group 9; Elizabeth Stonesifer, Group 18; Ruth Davidson, Group 19; and Polly Smith, Group 3. Also honored were four who are 90 years old: Susan Ritter, Group 6; Nellie Yeingst, Group 8; Francis McClelland, Group 14; and Ann Steidle, Group 14.

The county also presented a memorial to Middlesex Methodist Church in honor of Mary C. Sunday, who had been a 100-year-old member and a charter member of Group 1. Two members recognized for being 95 years of age were Mary Mowery, Group 4; and Margaret Garver, Group 6.

Cindy Dlugoleski gave a presentation on "Women of the Bible." Cindy is writing a play on the same subject.

A check for $1,075 was presented to Edward Belcher, president of Cumberland Valley for Habitat for Humanity.

State president Lois Hughes installed the following county officers: Betty Wert, president; Norma Crider, first vice president; Galye Fry, second vice president; Betty Garman, recording secretary; Sarah Nealy, corresponding secretary; and Sandra Morrison, treasurer.

President Lois Hughes also installed new group officers.

The convention closed with members singing the theme song, "Brighten the Corner."

sale.

The heifer, moreover, was out of five generations of excellent dams sired by "Fred."

"I've sold three out of Fred that averaged $2,000," Joyce interjected. "I sold a 'Pick of the Flush,' for $3,700," she added, obviously pleased that her hunch seems to be paying off

Hoffman wanted to buy and later purchased the heifer "It was just what I was looking for," he said.

The man was starting a new cow family, financing the endeavor with funds received from selling three of his own heifers.

He ultimately telephoned the consignor to discuss the dam, coolly revealing nothing known about the article tucked away in his private quarters. Somehow the tidbit of information leaked out when their discussion continued.

"When I consigned an animal to a sale," Joyce reported, "I tried to go to it." Thus, they finally met face to face at Scranton-Wilkes Barre, and in a friendly sort of way, liked each other well enough.

"He grew on me," Joyce reported, admitting that at one point she had told herself, "No Way!" Nevertheless, romance began to flourish between cow sales and telephone talks.

One month their long distance bills together tallied about $370, the couple laughingly reported.

Hoffman proposed to Joyce in August, but had underrated the confident woman he meant to marry. The beautiful bridal gown was already in her closet, ready to go before the official proposal on Aug. 11. The ceremony was Oct. 9.

The unusuality of their relationship seemed destined to affect their wedding day as well. Two mishaps had the close relatives on both sides edgy.

While Joyce was off to the hairdresser, Robert was operating the feed cart. He knew you had to duck under the pipeline and did so at first. On the return run, however, he got painfully lodged between the cart and the pipeline, sustaining a fractured rib. He managed to extricate himself, but nearly fainted before he could summon help.

Bonnie drove him to the nearest hospital emergency room in Somerset for treatment.

Donning his tuxedo was accomplished with little trouble. Because he had forgotten something he left the church to return to the nearby apartment where he had been staying.

Coming, back, a minor vehicular collision with his car occurred.

When the hullabaloo finally settled down, although the ceremony was late getting started, to eveyrone's relief, the two were finally husband and wife. They left to spend one week in the Bahamas and another in Ft. Lauderdale, Fl.

At the reception, the fact that a newspaper article had brought the two together had guests humming with curiosity.

Joyce's social life had been to go bowling once a week. At one time she enjoyed arm wrestling, but good-humoredly reported that she retired from it after contracting tendonitis.

Hoffman, likewise, was devoted to work and kept busy with the demands of farming.

During the second week of the couple's honeymoon, the hired help decided to walk off the job. Joyce's family inherited an unexpected workload, but said nothing that would spoil the honeymooner's vacation. It could wait.

"The hired help quit," Joyce said. "We lost a calf and came back to two barns of pneumonia."

So besides the livestock housing problems, the couple who are in need of good help to ease the burden, are working non-stop to maintain a quality dairy operation.

It's a tough beginning but they are upbeat and able to laugh. For now, there is no escape from the workplace for a welcome break of recreation.

The original news story that led him to his wife is preserved behind glass in a lovely wooden frame built by a Hoffman relative. No doubt, the story for generations to come, will be retold.

In only three weeks of using the Chi Machine I lost 15 pounds effortlessly and hospital lab tests showed that my blood cholesterol level dropped from 225 to 160 mg

How do I use my Chi Machine?
* Place the machine on a rug Lie on your back and put your ankles in the grooves of the footrest on top of the machine
* Set the timer switch to activate the machine for the number of minutes you desire First time users should start with 2 5 minutes
* The footrest will begin to move back and forth, carrying your feet briskly from side to side This movement will carry up through your legs and torso throughout your entire body, causing you to wiggle back and forth that s right like a fish swimming in water
* All you do now is relax and breathe deeply, letting the machine rock you gently but firmly for a maximum of 15 minutes
* When the time is up and the machine stops, remain lying down for another two to five minutes, relaxing and breathing deeply, enjoying the remarkable afterglow chi as it moves throughout your body

"In two months of using the Chi Machine, my thighs, hips stomach and buttocks now look as good as they did when I was in my 20's - and I'm almost 52'

Does your body get the oxygen it needs?
(Adapted from a quiz by Dr Eiei Noguchi)
Check all the boxes which apply to you
- ❒ I wake up tired, even after eight hours of sleep
- ❒ I sleep restlessly, waking up frequently
- ❒ I suffer from chronic fatigue
- ❒ I have poor physical endurance
- ❒ I tend to be moody and irritable
- ❒ I am susceptible to colds and flu
- ❒ I suffer from allergies
- ❒ I frequently feel tense and on edge
- ❒ I am frequently constipated
- ❒ I have frequent pain in my shoulder and/or back
- ❒ I have weight problems
- ❒ I crave sweets, alcohol or soda

If you checked more than three boxes, your body might not be assimilating sufficient oxygen Please consult your physician You may wish to have your blood oxygen levels tested - before and after you begin to use the Chi Machine

West Snyder FFA Named Top Safety Chapter in Pa.

West Snyder FFA Chapter was awarded the title of "First Place Safety Chapter" in Pennsylvania at Ag Progress Days Aug. 18 in Rockspring near Penn State University.

Members received the award from Samuel Hayes Jr., Pennsylvania secretary of agriculture.

The West Snyder FFA Chapter conducted several farm and health safety programs this year. The first safety event of the year was a full-day in-service on safety for the 225 staff members of the Midd-West School District. This event, along with a state training seminar for the Partners For A Safer Community, was in October. West Snyder FFA members featured their safety demonstrations at the state training seminar in Hershey.

Throughout the year, several requests for safety demonstrations were presented to both farm and nonfarm groups. The West Snyder FFA members also made safety presentations to about 600 students in grades K-6 at Beaver Adams and West Beaver Elementary Schools.

The final safety event for the year was a Progressive Farmer Farm Safety Day Camp June 29 At the day camp, 110 children learned about safety from 10 different stations from the West Snyder FFA members.

West Snyder FFA members James Wright, Jennifer McWilliams, Jess Walter, and Heidi Good also participated in Pennsylvania Safety Challenge to represent West Snyder FFA. The Safety Challenge used the academic college bowl format to quiz students on their knowledge of farm safety and occupational health issues.

FFA members were asked questions about any agriculture and health safety topic. A random drawing teamed West Snyder FFA against Upper Dauphin FFA Chapter. West Snyder advanced to the state level of competition by defeating Upper Dauphin FFA by a score of 120-30 points. The safety team was awarded a certificate by Samuel Hayes, Pennsylvania secretary of agriculture, a Life Flight/Life Lion T-shirt and $200. The state competition will be held at the Pennsylvania Farm Show in January

4-H HAPPENINGS

North Mountain 4-H

North Mountain 4-H club has elected new officers They are president, Stephanie Merten; vice president, Jake Richards, secretary, Heather Meyer, treasurer, Michelle Campbell, and Mary Ellen Whitmoyer, and news reporter, Kate Gerber.

The fall projects were woodworking, entomology, and sewing, level one.

On Nov 22 there will be a meeting at the Waterworks Fire Hall from 6 30 p m - 8 p m. At that meeting, there will be project demos, including quilting, rockets, sewing, cake decorating, and veterinary science

Having an activity center at the Lebanon Area Fair was discussed The 4-H Club will be presenting a hands-on 4-H activity center/petting zoo at the Youth for Christ, "Bids for Kids" Auction (April), and the Lebanon Area Fair

Fran Bushong, 4-H leader, came up with different ideas for the activity center Some of the ideas were:

- Things you find in the ocean
- Touch-and-feel boxes covered with neat contact paper that will be used hard but can be washed off and last at least 20 years.
- Kids For Kids-create a card. Fran would need everyone with a computer to make the cards with the 4-H name on the back, and flowers, animals, etc that can be colored at that center. Possibly someone could make a big 4-H mailbox for the cards to be put into
- The 4-H Club is looking for someone who can draw a cow, horse, sheep, pig or big apple tree on sheets of 4 by 8 plywood. The club will then paint them and put them together as a maze you can crawl through

4-H National Congress Delegates

Amory Bennett, Churchville, and Julia Krout, Blooming Glen, will join 1,000 teen 4-H members in Atlanta, Ga for the National 4-H Congress

The annual conference will focus on "Make The Difference" and will challenge the delegates on ways in which they can contribute to "Make The Difference" in their home and school communities.

Bennett, daughter of James and Barbara Bennett, is a 10th grade student of Council Rock High School. She is president of the Bucks County Seeing Eye Puppy Raisers Club She received the Bucks County 4-H Clover Award, the highest in 4-H, in 1998.

Krout, daughter of Rebecca Krout, is a senior at Pennridge High School. She is a teen leader in Hilltown, Carrot Crunchers, and Shooting Sports 4-H Club. She is an active youth member of the Bucks County 4-H Development Fund Board and a 4-H ambassador. She was recently awarded the Bucks County 4-H Clover Award.

The teens will travel to Atlanta as part of a Southeastern Pennsylvania 4-H group. They will participate in workshops on culture focused on music, dance, foods, and travel. Leadership workshops will include topic of communication and technology, family and consumer sciences, environment, and agricultural leadership.

Featured speakers are Miss America and Ted Turner, vice chairman, Time Warner, Inc.

Berks 4-H Delegates

The Berks County 4-H program will have Ashley Shollenberger, Mohrsville and Katrina Shutt, Hamburg, represent Berks County at the National 4-H Congress in Atlanta, Ga. They have contributed a great deal to both their community and the 4-H program the past several years. Both were selected on the basis of their overall achievement, participation, and positive attitude in the Berks County 4-H program.

Katrina is a senior at Hamburg Area High School and has been a member of the Leesport 4-H Club, in which she has participated in clothing and textiles and nutrition projects She has excelled in teen leadership at the club and county level Katrina has also been an active communicator in 4-H because she completed the 4-H Toastmaster's program, was a public speaker at Penn State 4-H Achievement Days, and served as mistress of ceremonies for the Berks 4-H Fashion Revue She is president of the Leesport 4-H Club

Ashley is home-schooled and is in her final year of 4-H She has been a member of the Berks County Sheep and Lamb Club, Berks County 4-H Beef Club, Berks County 4-H Swine Club for more than six years. Ashley has provided leadership at both club and county levels, as swine club president and as a leadership counselor at the 4-H Leadership Conference. Ashley has also taken her skills and knowledge learned in the Berks County 4-H Sheep and Lamb Club by being named the Pennsylvania Lamb and Wool Queen.

Katrina and Ashley were important members of the first Youth Advisory Committee of the Berks Community Foundation. National 4-H Congress showcases outstanding 4-H members from across the nation.

4-H Club Officer Awards

Awards for 4-H Club treasurer, secretary, and news reporter were presented at the annual 4-H Achievement Day in New Britain recently.

The 4-H Club treasurer first place award went to Josh Andress, son of Ron and Sue Andress, Ottsville. Josh has been treasurer of the Bucks County 4-H Sheep Club. The award is for accuracy, neatness, and record keeping.

First place 4-H Club Secretary Award was given to Kendal Dimmick, daughter of Jeff and Debbie Dimmick, Quakertown. Kendal is secretary of the Spurs N Burrs 4-H Horse and Pony Club. The award is for neatness, accuracy, and meeting minutes.

The 4-H News Reporter First Club Award was given to the Springtown 4-H Club. This award is given for a scrapbook which is prepared by the 4-H club.

Second place ribbons were presented to officers as follows: Jason Piasecki, son of Tom and Wendy Piasecki, Pipersville, for club treasurer; Ashley McBrien, daughter of Bob and Betty McBrien, Quakertown, for club secretary; and Natalie Crooke, daughter of Jim and Gail Crooke, Perkasie, for club reporter.

4-H Clover Awards

Three 4-H members received the top Bucks County 4-H Clover Award at the 4-H Achievement Day celebration recently. Honored with the award were Jay Hriez, Quakertown; Julia Krout, Blooming Glen; and Vicki Miller, Perkasie.

Hriez, son of Adel and Amy Hriez, is a member of The Hare 4-H Club. A senior at Quakertown Community High School, he plans a career in biology and animal science. He credits his 4-H experience in raising and breeding rabbits with giving direction to his future. He is a member of the National Honor Society and drum major for the high school marching band.

Krout, daughter of Rebecca Krout, is an active member of three 4-H clubs: Hilltown, Carrot Crunchers, and Shooting Sports. A senior at Pennridge High School, she also is a teen member of the Bucks County 4-H Development Fund Board. She has hosted 4-H Japanese exchange students, is a 4-H ambassador, and was selected as a teen counselor for the Penn State 4-H Leadership Conference.

Miller, daughter of Preston and Patsy Miller, is an active member of three 4-H clubs: Seeing Eye Puppy Raisers, Hilltown, and Carrot Crunchers. A 10th grade, home schooled student, Miller has traveled to Japan as a 4-H exchange student as well as hosting 4-H Japanese students in her home. She is a teen member of the Bucks County 4-H Development Fund Board and a 4-H ambassador.

For more information on Bucks County 4-H, contact Penn State Cooperative Extension (215) 345-3283.

4-H Dare You Awards

Jason Radcliff, Quakertown and Heather Stephenson, Huntingdon Valley, were awarded the Bucks County 4-H I Dare You Award recently at the 4-H Achievement Day. The award recognized leadership, community service, school activities, and general character of 4-H members.

Radcliff, son of Douglas and Lisa Radcliff, is a member of the Bucks County 4-H Seeing Eye Puppy Raising Club. He is 13 years old and is home schooled. He has served as 4-H club corresponding secretary. During the summer he and his family hosted a 4-H Japanese exchange student.

Stephenson, daughter of Wayne and Nancy Stephenson, has been the vice president of the Bucks County 4-H Sheep Club for two years. She is also a member of the Warminster 4-H Club Sheep Project. She is 13 years old, active with school, church, and served as a teen counselor for the 4-H Day Camp.

Century of Farming

a pictorial history of farming from 1900 to 1999 as presented by readers of Lancaster Farming

Everett R. Newswanger, Editor

Lancaster Farming Publisher

In just a few days, Century of Farming, the book that recalls family involvement and the historic significance of agriculture's heritage will be ready to ship. This treasure chest of memories includes 120 pages of old photographs from the family albums of readers of Lancaster Farming. In addition, Editor Newswanger has written a preface that takes you from the "Golden Age" of agriculture as the 20th century began, through the Depression and on to the tremendous contrast of biotechnology.

The pre-publication sales have been numerous, and only a very limited number of additional copies have been ordered, making this volume truly a limited edition hard cover book.

To be sure that you get your copy, use this order form and send it to Lancaster Farming today. Orders will be taken on a first-come basis, and if all the copies are sold when your order arrives, your check or credit card order will be returned to you.

#70555 DELWEACO Cathedral 4/4 Wall Westminster Chime Clock!

The long cathedral rods sound very much like the Grandfather or Grandmother hall clock. Do not confuse this clock with those that use the shorter rods, crosswise in the case. Uses the Hermle 351 KEY WIND Westminster Chime movement in a Cherry finish case! The case is hand rubbed for a super sheen. The ivory dial, black, easy to read numbers, and the special pendulum make this a heirloom for the next millennium!
This clock is quite large; 13-3/4 wide x 31-1/2 long! We have had numerous requests for a clock like this and finally decided to bring this one in from Germany.
Traditional key wind, 8 day movement. Chimes every 1/4 hour, plus strikes the hour after the chime are finished chiming on the hour! Color prints available - ask us.
This is an exceptionally NICE looking and NICE sounding clock!
Our THREE YEAR WARRANTY! Retail $495.00

Maryland DHIA Report For October

The October Dairy Herd Improvement information for dairy herds from the DHI processing center in Provo, Utah. The list includes herds from Maryland, Pennsylvania, and West Virginia. The information is listed by herd name, county association, number of cows in the herd and the average production per cow in the herd based on Energy Corrected Milk (ECM). ECM combines milk production and components.

The ECM formula is: (7.2 x lbs. protein) + (12.95 x lbs. fat) + (.327 x lbs. milk). To be included, the herd must have 10 cows averaging 65 pounds or more of ECM per cow, per day. All herds reported are on official DHI or DHIR test. Also listed are the top ten herds in Maryland for the Brown Swiss, Guernseys, and Jerseys, and the top seven herds for Ayrshires.

USDA Releases Grain Transportation Prospects

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The USDA reported its assessment of the current grain transportation situation in the United States as well as predictions for the next several months.

USDA provides this information periodically "to help railroads, producers, shippers, and receivers prepare for the changes that occur in agricultural transportation throughout the year," said Kathleen A. Merrigan, administrator of USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service.

Production of corn, sorghum, barley, oats, wheat, rye, and soybeans in 1999/2000 is expected to be 4 percent lower than 1998/1999. Despite reduced production, the largest carryover in a decade will push total grain and soybean supplies for 1999/2000 to their highest levels since 1987/1988.

Current projections put this year's grain and soybean use up less than 1 percent from 1998/1999. Even with this small increase, 1999/2000 total use could be the second highest ever, maintaining strong demand for transportation.

Strong export demand for grain and soybeans has kept rail and barge shipments running above year-ago levels for several months. Lower rates for forward barge freight and discounted values in the secondary market for guaranteed rail freight suggest some easing of demand for transportation in early 2000.

Railroads in the Western United States have been able to keep their systems fluid and meet shipper transportation needs despite strong demand for several months. Burlington Northern Santa Fe has kept its past-due car orders substantially below year-ago levels by keeping a high percentage of its fleet loaded and moving to destination and, at the same time, holding its grain car cycle times at some of the lowest levels in weeks. Grain train speeds on the Union Pacific indicate that UP has also been able to maintain good cycle times on its grain cars despite stronger demand on its system over the past few months.

Service reliability continues to be an issue in the Eastern United States, particularly on the lines of the former Conrail system, now operated by CSX Transportation and Norfolk Southern. Stronger demand for rail transportation and problems associated with flooding caused by Hurricane Floyd reduced grain train speeds again in October. Dwell times in key terminals that connect the Eastern Corn Belt and Southeast markets also continue to be up from their levels before the takeover, slowing less than unit-train load shipments of feed grains and feed ingredients.

A serious concern for Eastern Corn Belt grain and feed ingredient shippers and Southeastern poultry and hog feeders alike is the toll that winter could take on both NS and CSXT. Without significant improvements in operating performance on both railroads in the next few weeks, it may be impossible to expand Southeast feed inventories sufficiently to deal with any major snowfalls that could block rail lines in critical passes through the eastern mountains.

This information was developed by USDA and the Surface Transportation Board. It is available on the Internet at http://www.ams.usda.gov/tmd/mta/mta—special—reports.htm. To obtain a copy of the report, contact USDA-AMS-TM-MTA, Room 1207-S, 1400 Independence Avenue, SW, Washington, DC 20250, (202) 690-1303, or fax (202) 690-3616.

BUSINESS ❖ NEWS

Harold Goss, left, territory manager of J-Star Industries Inc. presents John Hoover, Hoover Equipment, Tyrone, with the Silver MVP and Top Sales Leader-Farmstead awards.

J-Star Honors Dealers

FORT ATKINSON, Wis. — J-Star Industries, located here, recently honored several Pennsylvania dealers for outstanding sales and service.

Mark Horstman, Pringles Feed Store Inc., Greenville, accepted the Bronze MVP Award from Harold Goss, territory manager of J-Star Industries.

Homer Stamm and Donald Rovenolt Jr. of Rovendale Ag and Barn Equipment, Watsontown, accepted the Silver MVP Award from Goss.

Dick Ferguson, service manager of Somerset Barn Equipment, Somerset, accepted the Gold MVP, Top Sales Leader-Farmstead and Top Sales Leader-Genuine J-Star Parts awards.

John Hoover, Hoover Equipment, Tyrone, won the Silver MVP and Top Sales Leader-Farmstead awards from Harold Goss of J-Star Industries.

Clair McMillen, McMillen Brothers Inc., Loysville, won the Silver MVP and Top Sales Leader-Farmstead awards.

The MVP Award (major volume performer) recognizes the company's top dealers who have achieved bronze, silver, gold, or platinum levels of sales and performance objectives during 1998. The Top Sales Leaders Award recognizes the top sales leaders for J-Star's main product lines.

Land Pride Recognizes Dealers

SALINA, Kan. — Land Pride, a division of Great Plains Manufacturing Inc., has recently recognized several Pennsylvania dealers for outstanding sales.

Keller Brothers Tractor Company, Lebanon, won the Silver Pride Award.

Stoltzfus Farm Service, Cochranville, received the Bronze Prize Award.

Peterman Power Equipment, Carlisle, was honored with the Silver Pride Award.

Finch Services Hanover Inc., Hanover, was honored with the Silver Pride Award from Land Pride.

The 1999 Silver Pride and Bronze Pride awards recognize dealers for their outstanding achievements in sales and service.

PACMA Completes Facility

PALMYRA (Lebanon Co.) — The Pennsylvania Agricultural Marketing Commodity Association Inc. (PACMA, Inc.) will begin handling agricultural and other bulk commodities at its newest facility in Greencastle, PA as of Nov. 11.

This large facility, which has been on the drawing board for several years, is being completed at an opportune time for the eastern Pennsylvania, and northern Maryland farmer

Recent drought damage in the area combined with acute tightness for long-haul truck transportation should make this facility opening welcomed by all agricultural commodity end users. The location is served by the Norfolk and Southern Railroad and will have 30 railroad car spaces.

The facility has 7,000 tons of storage and will be staffed by two employees.

PACMA Inc., a regional commodity merchandising/trading company, owns/operates five facilities in the Pennsylvania and New York agricultural markets.

On the recent expansion, PACMA President Gary Cordier said "PACMA believes that as Pennsylvania animal numbers expand, so to does the infrastructure for efficient feed ingredient handling and delivery. Furthermore, our expansion at Greencastle shows our commitment to our current customer base and recognizes the potential for growth."

Cooperative Association In 80th Year

BELLE MEAD, N.J. — Before incorporating in 1920, many of its members called it "The Club." Some of the old-timers still do.

Begun at the turn of the century, a group of local farmers, most of whom where of Dutch origin, decided it would be economical to pool their funds to buy farm supplies. The numbers grew and, in October of 1920, some 150 farmers banded together, incorporated, and formed what is known still today as the Belle Mead Farmers Co-Operative Association.

Still operating on its original site with many descendents of its original founders as members and/or staff, Belle Mead noted it is the oldest operating cooperative in the state and the oldest, continuously operating business in Hillsborough Township.

The list of past presidents, starting with the first, Peter Garretson, to the present, Walter Raymond, hold a long-standing history in the township.

Started as a farm store, then adding staples to help out the "farm woman," the cooperative has grown to a large retail lawn and garden center with nursery, pond, lawn and garden supplies, pet food, housewares, clothing, wildbird goods, and much more.

Local farmer, S. Robert Conard, who still operates a 1,200-acre farm in Belle Mead with his sons and grandsons, said, "The Co-Op has evolved over the years as the area has. We started with a horse and wagon and now have a web site with email!"

While the potbellied stove is gone, the general store feel is not.

Hugh Vollmers, who started as the manager in 1932 and ran the co-op for 40 years, remembers adding the "modern farm and home showroom" in 1953. A fire in 1956 destroyed 45 tons of grain.

Kevin Lyon is business manager. The company is open 8 a.m.-6 p.m. Monday-Friday, 8 a.m.-5 p.m. Saturday, and 10 a.m.-2 p.m. Sundays, year-round.

Snider's Elevator 4th Annual Open House A Success

LEMASTERS (Franklin Co.) — Snider's Elevator Inc., a family owned and operated feed mill, recently held its fourth annual open house and guided tours at the Lemasters facility.

The Monarch's Ministries Mounted Drill Team provided pony rides for the open house.

The Williamson Ruritan Club catered the two-day event. They grilled hot dogs and served homemade baked goods and hot drinks. On the second day, a free pancake breakfast was served compliments of Zook Molasses Company and Hatfield Sausage.

Hundreds of people came out to enjoy the mill tours, the good food, and the exhibits in the tent. Under the tent, vendors set up a variety of displays to demonstrate the product lines they represent. Vendors traveled from as far away as Texas and Florida to attend.

Also under the tent, miniature horses were on display from Harmony Hills farm and South Lawn stables. The miniature goats belong to Melanie Giorgini. She manufactures all natural goat milk soaps for people. A goat milking demonstration was conducted by Brad Parker of Greencastle, a producer of goat milk cheese. Many guests signed up for the door prizes. The grand prize, a 21-inch color TV, went to Mike Meyers of Mercersburg and a year's supply of Nutro Pet Food went to Kenneth Gracey, Mercersburg.

The facility tours include a trip through the grain receiving area and the feed manufacturing plant. Tour guide and local farmer Jay Shelly answered questions and showed guests how local grain gets processed from the rough product into finished feed.

Ron Moore, York Farm Credit, worked his booth during Snider's Elevator Inc. 4th Annual Open House. He also helped to serve the pancake breakfast. Hundreds of local residents enjoyed the displays, food, and tours of the mill.

Construction Business Owner Wins Bobcat Advantage Contest

FARGO, N.D. — Satisfaction with a machine recently helped three compact equipment users outshine more than 17,000 other entries in the Bobcat® Advantage Contest, a six-month search for the most compelling stories about using compact excavators and skid-steer loaders.

Melroe Company, the manufacturer of Bobcat skid-steer loaders and excavators, said that it named Jeffrey Covel of Alabama, N.Y., grand prize winner of the Bobcat Advantage Contest.

Covel received a new Bobcat 773 skid-steer loader in recognition of his winning entry, which expounded on the versatility, dependability, quality and performance of Bobcat Compact equipment.

"We bought our first Bobcat skid-steer loader last year," wrote Covel in his entry. "Since then, it has become our most valued subcontractor. We use it for everything, from moving lumber to tearing out existing structures." With their new Bobcat 773, Covel and his business partner and father, Howard Covel, plan to expand their construction company, Akron, N.Y.-based Covel Builders.

With their new Bobcat 773, Jeff Covel, left, and his business partner and father, Howard Covel, plan to expand their construction company, Akron, N.Y.-based Covel Builders.

Contest runners-up Harvey Stueber, New Ulm, Minn., and Eric Biddle, Rancho Santa Margarita, Calif., could choose from either a Bobcat attachment of their choice or $5,000 toward the purchase of Bobcat equipment as their prize. Stueber's entry described a life-long interest in Bobcat equipment that includes a collection of Bobcat photographs and advertisements gathered over decades. Steuber owns a Bobcat skid-steer loader that he uses to do maintenance, landscaping and snow removal at his home and for neighbors and friends. He elected to put his winnings toward the purchase of a new Bobcat 773 skid-steer loader.

Biddle's entry described how his company, Creative Contractors, builds and retrofits playgrounds, making them accessible to physically challenged children, allowing them to play alongside their peers. Biddle also applied his prize toward the purchase of a new Bobcat 773 skid-steer loader.

NEW LS SERIES LOADERS ARE HERE!
GREAT NEW LOOK.
SAME GREAT PERFORMANCE.

- Unequaled dump height and reach – Super Boom's vertical boom lift path moves the load up and away, giving you outstanding forward reach at maximum lift height.
- Pound for pound, greater lift capacity – The longer wheelbase and low center of gravity mean that Super Boom gives you more lift capacity per pound of total machine weight.
- The most attachments – Versatility is the name of the game when it comes to skid steers, and nobody gives you a wider variety of high-productivity attachments than New Holland.

The SIGNATURE 6000 may be the only rock picker you'll ever need This is the most rugged rock picker on the market Some of the SIGNATURE 6000 features include

Solid Shaft Grill Tines with Replaceable Grill Tips - This modern grill is easier to maintain, has longer life giving you less down time The unique grill provides five feet of clean sifting and virtually jamless performance

Grated Hopper Bottom - We use spring steel straps in the hopper, engineered to bounce back in shape

Hydraulic Drive - The most popular drive on rock pickers is hydraulic which is standard on the 6000 We have incorporated a relief valve to take away the shock when disengaging the drive

Reel Assembly - The three paddle reel has a large diameter, hard sufaced teeth and heavy duty paddles

Flotation Tires - The 16 5L x 16 1 flotation tires are standard equipment and are a must to reduce soil compaction

Swing Pole - Easy to maneuver in both working or transport position

National FFA Foundation Sets Record, Raises $7.3 Million

LOUISVILLE, Ky — For the 33rd consecutive year, the National FFA Foundation has set a record of support for FFA and agricultural education programs.

At the 72nd National FFA Convention, 1999 FFA Foundation Sponsors' Board Chairman William T Boehm announced that the Foundation raised a total of $7,310,000 in 1999 to support annual projects and programs for FFA and agricultural education—an all-time record

Boehm, who is vice president-logistics for The Kroger Company, said the contributions of the more than 1,300 sponsors help prepare future leaders and maintain the agricultural community, even in the constantly changing industry.

"The food and agricultural industry continues to change rapidly," Boehm said. "These funds help to ensure that new generations of leaders will be available to meet those challenges of change."

Boehm introduced the 2000 FFA Foundation Sponsors' Board Chairman-Elect R.W. "Bud" Porter, senior vice president, North American Agricultural Marketing of Deere & Company Porter announced the 2000 Foundation theme, "Invest in Today's Generation."

Since 1944, the National FFA Foundation has provided more than $85 million to FFA members for awards, scholarships and achievement programs

1999-2000 National FFA Officer Team

The six student members who will lead the National FFA Organization for the 1999-2000 year were elected Oct 30 at the 72nd National FFA Convention

Chris Vitelli, a 20-year-old from Plant City, Fla., is the new national FFA president Jodee Ruppel, a 20-year-old from Manchester, Ind , was elected national FFA secretary.

Vice presidents representing each region are Leslie Small, 19, Arkansas City, Kan , central region; Joe Shultz, 20, Degraff, Ohio, eastern region; Carol Spruill, 19, Hoschton, Ga , southern region, and Marshall Baker, 19, Portales, N.M., western region. The officers will take a year-long leave of absence from college to serve their terms.

Vitelli is the son of Arnold and Alice Vitelli. A member of the Plant City FFA, his supervised agricultural experience program (SAE) includes feeder steers and swine, lawn maintenance, and placement in curriculum writing for agricultural education. His advisers are Jane Bender and Ray Clark. Vitelli attends the University of Florida, where he is a sophomore majoring in agricultural education and agricultural leadership.

Ruppel, the daughter of Bill and Miriam Ruppel, is a member of the Manchester FFA Chapter. Her advisers are Gwen Mize and Ron Smith. Ruppel's SAE includes raising Shropshire sheep and her work in agricultural communications A freshman at Purdue University, she is majoring in agricultural education and telecommunications.

Shultz is the son of Bill and Susan Shultz He is a member of the Indiana Lake FFA Chapter, where his adviser is Jack Fetter. A purebred Rambouillet sheep operation makes up Shultz's SAE A sophomore at the Ohio State University, Shultz is majoring in agricultural education and agricultural economics.

Small's parents are Tony and Barb Small. She is a member of the Arkansas City FFA Chapter, where her advisers are Matthew Schweer and Jacob Larison. Small has a hands-on program in beef production and diversified livestock. She attends Kansas State University, where she is a sophomore majoring in agricultural economics.

Spruill is the daughter of Jack and Ada Spruill. She is a member of the Jackson County FFA Chapter, where her advisers are Tony Embrick, Jimmy Mock, and Phillip Todd. Spruill's diverse SAE consists of boarding and showing horses as well as producing hay commercially She is a sophomore at the University of Georgia, where she is majoring in agricultural economics.

Baker's parents are Wayne and JoAnna Baker. He is a member of the Texico FFA Chapter, where his adviser is Bill Morrison. Oil and beef production make up Baker's SAE. HE attends Austin College where he is a sophomore majoring in biology.

During their year of service, the national officers will each travel more than 100,000 miles making hundreds of appearances on behalf of FFA. The national officers meet officials in government, business, education and agriculture, representing members nationwide. As they travel during the year, they meet and work with members on the local, state, and national levels.

Select Sires Dominates Champions At World Dairy Expo

PLAIN CITY, Ohio — In the 33-year history of World Dairy Expo, Select Sires has been able to take credit for the lion's share of champions in the coveted International Holstein Show.

Rainyridge Tony Beauty (EX-Can), a daughter of Marshfield Elevation Tony, is the latest Select-sired Holstein to be named grand champion. The 14-year-old Canadian cow exhibited by Stanhope-Wedgwood and Ray Brown carries the added honor of being named supreme champion of all breeds at the 1999 show.

Beauty has been here before, having taken Expo's top honors in her breed in 1995, too.

The reserve intermediate champion of the 1999 Holstein Show was a Robthom Integrity-ET daughter, Van Dyk-K Integrity Paradise (VG-89-EX-MS). The 3-year-old definitely had Judge Lowell Lindsay's eye as he remarked, "Balance, this cow fits it to a tee!"

Mark Rueth of Jefferson, Wis., was at the halter as co-owner with Kent Van Dyk.

In the Guernsey show, Select's Maplehurst Opportunity sired this year's grand champion, Sniders Opp Georgie. Exhibited by Jan Snider of New Enterprise, Pa., Georgie was also named the grand champion female of the junior show. And it's fair to say the Select-sired Trotacre Mercury Loral-ET daughters dominated the top end of the heifer classes.

Select's genetics rose to the top again with the aged cow class winner being named grand champion of the Brown Swiss Show. Kelly Ambos of Botkins, Ohio exhibited her Miles Away Conquest sired daughter, Hill-N-Dale Conquest Juana.

THINK CONCRETE WHEN PLANNING YOUR FEED STORAGE!!

"HOW WILL YOU BE STORING YOUR VALUABLE FORAGES AND GRAINS IN THE 21ST CENTURY?

It's not too early to begin planning your storage and feeding systems for the year 2000 and beyond.

As margins narrow, dairymen need to invest in efficiency; this can have as great an influence on PROFIT as milk price changes

Protect your valuable feeds from the elements . increase the efficiency of your feeds, your animals, and your labor.

Everlast is stronger.

Everlast makes metal roofs and sides that are substantially stronger than it's competition. Everlast II does not buckle as easy during erection, less popping and buckling while walking on it. Higher wind and snow loads More attractive.

Lapp's Curtain System

Lapp's insulated curtains can help you make your farm more efficient. You can save up to 30% on your fuel'energy costs while maintaining a comfortable climate enables livestock to feed into live weight more efficiently, the curtain makes your barn warmer in winter and cooler in summer.

Our curtains are available in both 4 and 6 ply, both of which are faced with an impervious white vinyl layer which faces the elements With all these benefits, the average payback is two years!

A lower cost alternative to the insulated curtains, are Lapp's single layer curtains. You still get all lthe benefits of using a high quality curtain keep the elements outside and being able to lower the curtain to naturally ventilate in your barn.

We also repair other brand curtains.

Bed your free stalls fast... 60 stalls in 60 seconds

"It's amazing how fast it is."
Dale Kennedy, Catalpa Farm, Middletown, PA

"The Millcreek Bedding Spreader saves me untold hours of back breaking manual labor installing fresh sawdust in my 125 stalls Now I use less material and get a more controlled application The Bedding Spreader is a good equipment value because I use it so often "

Now you can apply fresh wood shavings, sawdust or sand for free stall bedding 75% faster - with just one man. No more shovel, no more backache.

The Millcreek Bedding Spreader puts fresh bedding exactly where you want it There's nothing like it for fast, efficient and cost-effective application of fresh bedding material in free stall barns

For example, Scott Coblentz, Deer Spring Farm, Maryland, milks 280 head and uses sand to help improve herd health It used to take 2 men almost 2 days to install fresh bedding Now, with the Millcreek Bedding Spreader, one man does the job in hours

SWEETCAKE 16NU

FEED SUPPLEMENT BLOCKS FOR THE LIVESTOCK INDUSTRY

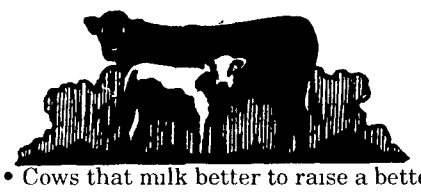
• High Natural Protein • No Urea • Fat Enhanced
• Balanced Supplementation • Safe For All Livestock Classes

Sweetcake Advantages

- Aids in making the best use of your available forage
- Promotes a more even herd consumption, with 24-hour availability to all cattle
- Reduces labor to save you money and give you more time to make important management decisions
- Supplies much-needed vitamins and minerals that forage lacks to help your cattle perform to their genetic potential
- Supplies fat in most formulations to enhance energy intake

For Dairy

- Replacement heifers that grow out soundly and economically
- Body condition on dry cows so they can return to lactation, producing at the maximum potential
- Healthier herds, with essential trace minerals that help prevent metritis, retained placenta and other health problems
- Prompt re-breeding, thanks to essential nutrients



For Beef

- Stronger, healthier calves at birth
- Heavier Calves at weaning
- Cows that cycle better for improved conception rates
- Cows that milk better to raise a better calf

AUCTION or BROKERAGE CALL FOR THE ADVANTAGES OF EACH. WITH 29 YEARS OF EXPERTISE AS A CAI AUCTIONEER & REALTOR I CAN HELP YOU MAKE THE PROPER DECISION. A VISIT TO EXPLAIN WILL COST YOU NOTHING.

Tioga Co. - 240 acres of prime farmland on the Wellsboro Plateau. This former potato farm was previously offered with the 200 ac. plus dairy (but the farm is SOLD). This one will be sold too if you really want an excellent chunk of prime farmland. There are extras like a 2 ac. pond, potato barns heated and ventilated, scale, and lots of road frontage, plus a nice price reduction. Maybe even sub-divide. You call me and we'll talk.

URGENT NEEDS
- Acreage in Lycoming Co. or large dairy. 200 acres within 2 hours of Berks Co. (no buildings needed)
- Southern York Co. Need 4 dairy farms
- Perry Co. Need 4 or 5 good dairy farms
- Need Dairy Rent to Buy

My listings turn to "SOLD."
